DUNNE DISMISSES INDICTMENTS IN RESTAURANT CASES

Reversed Judge Takes His Medicine, Unmindful of Heney's Protest.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Against the vehement protest of Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney, Judge Dunne dismissed this morning the four indictments against Abraham Ruef, accused by the grand jury of extortion in connection with the French restaurant cases, the Court incidentally suggesting that the facts be submitted to the present grand jury.

It was after 11 o'clock before the Ruef case was reached and the spectators who crowded the courtroom were somewhat weary by the long wait. Ruef, accompanied by Attorney Murphy, sat just next to Heney, who, with Assistant District Attorney Cook, occupied the prosecution's table. Just back of Heney sat Rudolph Spreckels, and he was occasionally consulted by the special prosecutor.

When at length indictments 303, 304, 306 and 307 were called Heney was ready with a motion.

Heney in Doubt.

"In those matters, if your honor please," said Heney, "I have not been able to determine for my own satisfaction from the decision of the Supreme Court of the State whether a good indictment can be carved out of the facts in the indictment. I am inclined to think that the meaning and intent of the court was that a good indictment can be carved out of that material. I am wrong matters may be dismissed, but I move that they go over one week."

The Court then inquired whether Heney thought there was any difference between the Ruef and the Schmitz case, which had already been dismissed, and the prosecution replied that he did not.

Attorney Murphy thereupon interposed a protest against the continuance.

"Whether a good indictment can be carved out of the material is no reason for continuing the matter," he said. "The Supreme Court has held these indictments to be fatally defective and they should be dismissed. If hereafter they wish to submit the facts to another grand jury we have no objection. We have no objection to a continuance except in so far as we are held in the sum of $10,000 on each of these indictments, and we would ask to be relieved on our own recognizance. These indictments are for a defective and we should not be asked to give bail upon them."

Dismisses Indictments.

Heney replied that there had been no question of bail raised yet and it should not be interposed.

"Schmitz has been released on his own recognizance," said Murphy, "and there is no reason why Ruef should not be treated the same."

"I think there is a reason," interposed Heney. "Schmitz was never a fugitive from justice." "That is neither here nor there," responded Murphy. "I think that the demurrer interposed should be sustained. We have no objection to submitting these matters to another grand jury. Either these indictments should be dis-

PRIEST'S SLAYER STABS 'TRUSTY,' FLEES FROM CELL

Overpowered Before He Can Escape

DENVER, Colo., March 14.—An attempt was made about 8:30 o'clock today by Giuseppe Alfa, the condemned murderer of Father Leo Heinrichs, to escape from the County Jail, where he has been under guard day and night.

He made use of a razor blade, with which he slashed the neck of a "trusty" who was cleaning his cell, and then made a rush to get away. The "trusty," despite his cut, rushed after him and pinned him, and he was overpowered with the help of Deputy Warden Carpen.

JAPANESE SQUADRON TO SAIL ON SECRET SERVICE

Great Activity Going on at Naval Station

HONGKONG, March 14.—Information has been received here from Formosa that the first Japanese naval squadron will sail today on secret service. The cruisers Yakumo, Akitsushima, Asama and a flotilla of smaller vessels have been coaled ready to sail at a minute's notice since March 7. At Sasebo, the naval station, everything is exceedingly busy. The Tatsu affair has caused a sensation in the Navy, and some action in the department is surmised.

March 9 announced that a part of the first Japanese naval squadron was to leave port on March 14. Coaling and other preparation for departure were proceeding rapidly. At the office of the admiralty in Tokyo it was declared that the squadron was about to begin a series of maneuvers. It was pointed out further that this act was announced two months ago and that this activity should not necessarily be considered in connection with the difficulty with China arising from the Tatsu Maru incident.

CALIFORNIA BANK TO PAY TEN PER CENT DIVIDEND

Depositors Will Receive Money April 1

A 10 per cent dividend will be paid to depositors of the California Bank on April 1 by Receiver James P. Edoff, who made an announcement to this effect in Judge Harris' court. This means a payment of about $100,000 to the depositors.

A dividend of 5 per cent has already been paid by Edoff. The announcement was made during the hearing of an account submitted by him, which enumerated offsets that were possible. These offsets consist of money due the bank by depositors on unsecured notes or overdrafts. They amount to about $5000. Judge Harris allowed them.

SUDDEN CHANGE IN WARSHIP'S PLANS

Buffalo Is Unexpectedly Ordered to Leave Magdalena Bay.

SAN DIEGO, March 14.—Wireless messages this morning from Magdalena Bay state that the warship Buffalo, which was practically the only United States vessel at the bay when the battleship fleet arrived, will leave tonight or early tomorrow and will be in San Diego Tuesday. The Buffalo is in command of Captain Charles Pond, and it was understood that she would remain at Magdalena Bay for the purpose of handling targets for the fleet practice. This work will have to be done by the navy tug Fortuna. The reason for the trip of the Buffalo is not made apparent by the dispatch.

The wireless station here was busy all last night with official and fleet messages, all of the former being in cipher, and very little of the latter containing news other than that which has already been made public.

To Enter Harbor.

The South Dakota will leave here within a few days for Santa Barbara for a visit. She will return to San Diego, and Captain Fox states that he intends to bring her inside for a ten-day stay. She will be the largest war vessel that ever came over the bar, being 4000 tons larger than the Charleston. The California, which arrived last evening, will sail north with the Tennessee and Washington early in the week, and will stop first at San Pedro.

The coming of the Culgoa has started the contractors who are under contract to furnish supplies, and though they are not bound to deliver until the 15th, they will rush their stuff aboard as rapidly as possible. Nearly 200 tons of fresh meat will be taken, including two carloads of sausage now on the way from the East.

Reuterdahl Arrives.

Henry T. Reuterdahl, the well-known correspondent whose criticism of the construction of the battleships of the United States navy has created such a storm of discussion and investigation, was on board the Culgoa as a passenger from Callao. Reuterdahl left Hampton Roads with the fleet on its long cruise, having obtained special permission from the Navy Department to do so. He remained in the city only a few hours and left for the north. It is understood he will attend the investigation in Washington.

San Diego's delegations of welcome to Admiral Evans is supposed to have reached Magdalena Bay last evening, and they did not miss the greetings and invitations have already been spoken.

Secretary Metcalf Says He'll Retire

WASHINGTON, March 14.—At the Yale alumni banquet, at which Secretary of the Navy Metcalf presided, he made a statement of interest to Californians.

At the conclusion of the present executive's term of office next March, he said, "I shall retire from politics and take up again the practice of law." "This was greeted by loud cheers of 'No no.' "But," he proceeded, "I shall be glad to return to this beautiful city of Washington when I shall receive an invitation to be present at a Yale alumni banquet."

Insane Man Climbs Up Hotel Awning

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—William Wallace, 40 years old, who has been living for some time at the Sierra Hotel, Franklin and McAllister streets, was taken suddenly insane at an early hour this morning, and amused himself by hanging on the high awning in front of the hotel office.

William Creghton, the proprietor, fearing that the man would fall, summoned Policeman Ute, and after a ladder had been procured, they succeeded in getting the man to the insane ward at the detention hospital.

Shot by Rejected Lover, Who Ends Life

CHICAGO, March 14.—Charles Wiedman shot and killed himself last night after an attempt to murder Mrs. Minnie Heiss at her residence. Mrs. Heiss probably will die. Wiedman boarded with Mrs. Heiss, a widow with two children. The children said their mother and Wiedman were on excellent terms and they can assign no motive for the shooting.

HENEY AND DUNNE 'RAP' DECISION OF SUPREME COURT

Court Calls the Rabbis Perjurers

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Judge Dunne from the bench shortly after noon today was about to sentence Abraham Ruef for the crime of extortion on indictment 305, to which he pleaded guilty last June, but refrained from doing so after the loud protestations of Attorney Frank Murphy, representing the defendant, and after denying a motion in arrest of judgment, continued the case until Monday.

Judge Dunne made a statement, which, although it mentions no names, would seem to accuse the two rabbis, who have been called into this case, of deliberate falsehood, and states that if the Court had the power it would like to bring them before the Grand Jury.

"Rap" Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court of the State comes in for a considerable rapping at the hands of both Attorney Heney and Judge Dunne and several attorneys who were present during the proceedings did not hesitate to say that either of them might be held in contempt.

When the case against Ruef on indictment 305 was called, Attorney Murphy interposed a motion that the defendant's plea of guilty be withdrawn and the indictment dismissed. Heney protested and Murphy, in stating his reasons, based them on Ruef's affidavit filed on Friday last. There happened to be no copy of that document in court and it was over half an hour before it was procured. Murphy then, basing his remarks upon that document, called attention to the conference with the rabbis, and the promise of complete immunity, and the promise to Ruef in which he says he was to be allowed to change his plea.

Judge Dunne interrupted Murphy in the middle of his argument and said: "If any such persons made any such statements they were deliberate and vicious falsehoods made for the purpose of assisting the greatest and most vicious criminal that ever came to this court to escape his just deserts, and I want to say that if I could bring these people before the Grand Jury with the view of indictment I would do it. All persons, no matter how high their degree, or how responsible their calling may be, are responsible and the higher their calling the more reprehensible their conduct is and the greater their punishment should be. There is no merit in this motion."

"It would be a gross abuse of the court's discretion to let this plea be withdrawn and it is denied Abraham Ruef stand no."

Murphy Objects.

Attorney Murphy was on his feet in an instant. He objected strongly to

8-YEAR-OLD GIRL FINDS THE DEAD BODY OF HER MOTHER

Despondency Caused by Long Illness Leads to Suicide.

Mrs. Annie Steinberg, wife of a merchant living at 1020 Fifth avenue, ended her life this afternoon by drinking carbolic acid. She had been ill for four or five years and was despondent. She was found by her 8-year-old daughter and Dr. H. Wilder was summoned.

The dose of acid taken was so large that it was impossible to save her life and she succumbed soon after the physician arrived.

Mrs. Steinberg seemed in a cheerful mood early this morning, but shortly before noon became despondent, and leaving her home went to a drug store, where she bought a small vial of carbolic acid. She kept the poison concealed for some hours, until she was alone in a front room of the house, when she drank the liquid. Her screams attracted her daughter, by whom Dr. Wilder was summoned.

The woman's condition was so hopeless that she was not removed from the house. The remains were sent to the morgue and an inquest will be held. She leaves a husband, H. Steinberg, a daughter and a young son.

FIVE GIRLS KEEP SUICIDE PACT; THE SIXTH FAILS

17-Year-Old Miss Tells a Startling Story

NEW YORK, March 14.—A startling story of how five young girls who came to New York from St. Paul, Minn., more than a year ago, died each by her own hand was told today by 17-year-old Helen Baxter after she had made a valiant effort to end her own life.

Miss Baxter said she was one of the party of six girls, who came to New York to make their way in the world after receiving a course of training in a business school in the Minnesota city. She turned on the gas in her room last night, but was found this morning in time to save her life. When asked why she had tried to end her life, the girl astonished the ambulance surgeon and others who had crowded around by her story of the fate of her friends.

"Why should I not be allowed to die?" she asked. "My five girl friends who left St. Paul with me a year ago, after we left school, have all committed suicide. I want to die as they did and join them."

Refuses to Give Names.

"Was it a suicide pact?" she was asked.

"My five girl friends are all dead and they died as they chose," was the reply.

The girl refused to give the names of any of her girl friends. A short time after their arrival in New York, she said, one of the girls married. She did not live happily with her husband and killed herself a few months afterwards. In the meantime another girl had been seeking employment without success. She sought death and found it by the same way her friend had.

Two More Suicides.

The next to go in the same manner, according to Helen's story, was one of the girls, who had fallen a victim to a man's false friendship. With three of their number dead, the three that remained recovered she was taken to a police station and locked up, charged with having attempted suicide.

ST. PAUL, March 14.—Helen Baxter is not known here.

M. Hanna's Grand-on Elopes and Marries

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., March 14.—Mark A. Hanna, son of Daniel Hanna, and grandson of the late Marcus A. Hanna, and who is a freshman in the Sheffield scientific school at Yale University, was married to Miss Adelle Pratt of Elmira, N. Y., last evening by justice of the Peace Hull. In the certificate both gave their ages as 21. Friends here say that it was their understanding that Mrs. Pratt did not wish her daughter to receive the attentions of Hanna.

OPPOSED TO NEW SUPERVISORIAL DISTRICT

Board Is Not in Favor of Plan Submitted by Residents of Berkeley.

"I think you are a fourflusher, Mr. Mitchell," said Frew W. Foss of Berkeley today to Supervisor John Mitchell during a discussion at the meeting of the Board of Supervisors to consider the question of making a separate supervisorial district out of Berkeley.

Mitchell, after calling the meeting together, said that three members of the board, Kelley-Horne and Bridge, were opposed to the plan, and that it would fail for that reason. Foss told him that he wanted the board to go on record one way or the other, and that that was the reason why a delegation had come from Berkeley today to the meeting.

"You could have influenced enough of the other members of the board to vote for a separate district for Berkeley if you had wanted to do so, Mr. Mitchell," he said.

"You know that is ridiculous," was the answer. "You think I can influence Mr. Kelley, Mr. Bridge, or Mr. Horner to vote against what they think is right?"

Foss replied by calling the chairman of the Board of Supervisors a fourflusher.

"That statement is not true," said Mitchell. "It is an insult, and no gentleman would make it."

After the exchange of words had taken place, Supervisor Rowe outlined a plan whereby Berkeley citizens could be placed in a district that would include all of Berkeley, the city of Piedmont and a part of the north end of Oakland. No action was taken on this.

Supervisor W. C. Kelley said that Berkeley had fifteen per cent of the population of the county, and paid twenty per cent of the taxes, and was therefore entitled to more consideration than it was getting.

Supervisor Kelley answered him by saying that Oakland paid about fifty-five per cent of the taxes and was entitled, at the same calculation, to two or three supervisors. He said that he was opposed to the creation of a separate district for Berkeley because of the present plan to consolidate Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley. Supervisors Bridge and Horner said that their objections were based on similar grounds.

missed or the defendant released on his own recognizance.

"I see no reason for continuing this case," said the Court, "unless you have some further reason, Mr. Heney."

"I have none," replied the special prosecutor.

"The demurrers will therefore be sustained," said Court, "and the indictments dismissed, the Court being of the opinion that the facts should be submitted to another grand jury."

the sentencing of the defendant. He set forth how the defendant had pleaded guilty to the charges in the indictment, but held that if the Supreme Court had decided there was no merit in those charges judgment could not be passed upon the defendant by reason of them.

When he had done the court asked the opinion of the District Attorney, and Heney replied:

"The only chance that the people have in this matter is for your honor to sentence the defendant. He has the right to appeal to the higher court. We have never been allowed to argue these matters in the Supreme Court of this State. We asked for the privilege, but we did not get it. It is possible that the Supreme Court may find itself wrong. It would not be the first time. The thing has happened in other States.

Suggests Change.

"In Missouri, Butler, a political boss, was indicted, and it was held by the Supreme Court that he had committed no crime and he was released. Three months later an insignificant defendant came before the court and it reversed its former decision. A change of heart and a change of opinion might result in our own Supreme Court."

Judge Dunne, when he had finished, stated with some degree of sarcasm:

"This might happen with some other defendant, but not in this case. This defendant would have been sent to Folsom for the extreme limit had not the Supreme Court come to his relief on Monday. I want to say here both as a citizen and a judicial officer that my only regret is that the Supreme Court did not give a judgment which would give as much comfort and have as much influence for good among the people as the decision they did bring gave comfort to the forces of evil in this state."

Judge Dunne then denied the motion in a rest of judgment and continued the case until Monday. Attorney Murphy objected and stated that he had other motions to interpose, but the Court would not hear them, and Murphy was still speaking when the jurist

HENY AND LAWYER FOR RUEF DECLARE WAR

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Francis J. Heney announced to Attorney Murphy this morning during the session of court that he would have nothing whatever to do with the question of reducing Ruef's bail. The special prosecutor had formerly announced to Attorney Ach that he would go over the papers and submit a proposition to the court.

Several days ago when the case was called he stated he had not had time to attend to the matter, but would turn it over to Assistant District Attorney O'Garra. Today he stated that as the Assistant District Attorney had not had time to attend to the matter he would have nothing to do with it.

Murphy replied that he was sure there was some mistake as he had heard Ach's statement and did not see anything in it to offend. Heney replied that as long as he would be District Attorney he desired to keep Ach and Murphy at arm's length. Murphy said that as the Assistant District Attorney had not had time to attend to the matter he would reply for himself and Ach that they, too, would take pleasure in keeping Heney at arm's length.

REFUSES TO DISMISS FIGHT TRUST CASES

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Judge Dunne this morning overruled the motions to set aside the indictments in the cases of E. M. Graney, J. W. Coffroth, Willis Britt and Eugene E. Schmitz, indicted by the grand jury for bribery in connection with the alleged fight trust. The defense was granted a bill of exception and Attorney Shortridge, representing Graney, moved that the indictments be stricken from the file, and that further proceedings be stayed on the ground that the grand jury which found and presented the indictment was discharged by due operation of law before the finding of the indictment. And further that E. M. Graney was forced to appear and testify before the grand jury.

Judge Dunne stated that the prosecution would not admit Graney had testified in regard to trust fight matters and Judge Dunne remarked that he could see no warrant in law for such a motion on the part of the defense.

"I can see that there is your honor," said Shortridge. The Legislature cannot take away from this court its inherent powers.

"But the Supreme Court does," put in Judge Dunne.

"And the Appellate Court, too, your honor," added Heney.

OAKLAND GIRLS AND MISS SHAW

Take Leading Roles Owing to the Illness of Member of Company.

The continued illness of Miss Pettus, of the Mary Shaw company, has forced the management to use substitutes both last night, in the production of "Mrs. Warren's Profession," and this afternoon's matinee, "Ghosts." The concluding performance this evening.

Miss Beatrice Shields of the Liberty company, supported Miss Shaw last night, and Miss Helen Sankley will appear again in "Ghosts" this afternoon, the same part she took the night Miss Pettus was taken ill. Miss Shaw has been highly pleased at the support of both these young players, and each of them have demonstrated that they are capable and conscientious artists.

WOMEN CHEER KREISLER

Rise in Seats and Wave Handkerchiefs at Player.

There never was so enthusiastic an audience in the history of Oakland as that which greeted Fritz Kreisler yesterday afternoon at the Liberty theater. Women fairly fought to pay homage to his talents, and at the conclusion of each number would rise in their seats and wave handkerchiefs and cheer. A lamentable fact was shown in the very small audience which greeted this famous player, an explanation of which seems to be beyond the comprehension of those responsible for the violinist's engagement.

Kreisler is distinctly an artist, one who is not so conscious of the greatness of his achievements as is that of the beauty of the art of which he is an exponent. He is not a showy violinist, but sincere, and probably the greatest living master of his instrument.

His concert is filled with beautiful sounds, his gravity profound, and his tones, round, ripe and colorful. In fact, the performance is an enchantment.

BLESSING TO MANY PEOPLE

Simple Home Made Remedy for Kidney or Bladder Troubles or Rheumatism.

This is a simple home recipe now being made known in all the larger cities through the newspapers. It is intended to check the many cases of rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble which have weakened so many of our brightest and strongest people.

The druggists here have been notified to supply themselves with the ingredients, and the sufferer will have no trouble to obtain them. The prescription is as follows: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; and Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking. The dose is one tea-spoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Recent experiments, even in severe hospital cases, prove this simple mixture the remedy for Rheumatism, because of its positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It compels these most vital organs to filter from the blood and system the waste impurities and uric acid which are the cause of rheumatism. It cleanses the kidneys, strengthens them and removes quickly such symptoms as backache, blood disorders, bladder weakness, frequent urination, painful, scalding and as he would be District Attorney he desired to keep Ach and Murphy at arm's length. Murphy said that as the Assistant District Attorney had not had time to attend to the matter he would reply for himself and Ach that they, too, would take pleasure in keeping Heney at arm's length.

Main Line Runs to Polytechnic College

The Southern Pacific Co. have connected their main line telegraph wire on the Tracy division with the telegraph department of the Polytechnic Business College, 808 12th st., Oakland, where arrangements have been made to conduct a special school of telegraphy, preparing operators for the S. P. Co.

Many young men and women are now receiving instructions in telegraphy and station work, preparatory to taking positions. They have the decided advantage of getting actual main line, train order service over the wire hourly, and are fully prepared to go immediately into good positions.

It is said that this is the only school in the United States having these accommodations. The school is in session both day and night and the Southern Pacific Co. guarantees to locate every competent operator.

MAY MAKE ANOTHER CHARGE AGAINST RACETRACK MAN

Embezzlement Instead of Grand Larceny, Intimates Judge.

Judge Ogden intimate today that the charge of grand larceny that has been made against Edwin Wilkerson, of defrauding bettors at the race track by taking their bets and then decamping with the money, would not hold.

The testimony taken at the preliminary examination showed that Grover received the money from Wilkerson, who had taken it in his book. Judge Ogden said that Wilkerson was the lawful custodian of the money when he gave it to Grover, and that it could not be said that he committed larceny. Deputy District Attorney Burpee will change the charge from grand larceny to embezzlement, to give him an opportunity to do this, the court continued the case until March 23. The proceedings this morning were the hearing of Grover's application to be released on a writ of habeas corpus.

OAKLAND GIRLS AND MISS SHAW

Take Leading Roles Owing to the Illness of Member of Company.

The continued illness of Miss Pettus, of the Mary Shaw company, has forced the management to use substitutes both last night, in the production of "Mrs. Warren's Profession," and this afternoon's matinee, "Ghosts." The concluding performance this evening.

Miss Beatrice Shields of the Liberty company, supported Miss Shaw last night, and Miss Helen Sankley will appear again in "Ghosts" this afternoon, the same part she took the night Miss Pettus was taken ill. Miss Shaw has been highly pleased at the support of both these young players, and each of them have demonstrated that they are capable and conscientious artists.

WOMEN CHEER KREISLER

Rise in Seats and Wave Handkerchiefs at Player.

There never was so enthusiastic an audience in the history of Oakland as that which greeted Fritz Kreisler yesterday afternoon at the Liberty theater. Women fairly fought to pay homage to his talents, and at the conclusion of each number would rise in their seats and wave handkerchiefs and cheer. A lamentable fact was shown in the very small audience which greeted this famous player, an explanation of which seems to be beyond the comprehension of those responsible for the violinist's engagement.

Kreisler is distinctly an artist, one who is not so conscious of the greatness of his achievements as is that of the beauty of the art of which he is an exponent. He is not a showy violinist, but sincere, and probably the greatest living master of his instrument.

His concert is filled with beautiful sounds, his gravity profound, and his tones, round, ripe and colorful. In fact, the performance is an enchantment.

The Idora Park Company has filed articles of incorporation. The corporation proposes to conduct the business of the pleasure resort. The capital is $50,000, of which $50 has been subscribed. Both Gus Weinburg and Ruth White are warm favorites and number of their friends by the thousands. Besides the stars, the company includes Leo Kendall, Fred Bailey, J. J. MRS. MARCOVICH SECURES FULL CONTROL OF HOME

Estate Is Appraised at Over $20,000

Judge Waste has made an order setting apart as a homestead to Mrs. Jennie M. Marcovich the home of her late husband, John J. Marcovich, former proprietor of the "Gas Kitchen" restaurant. This home has an inventory value of $5000, and is situated on Thirtieth street, near Grove.

Marcovich was shot and killed by Fred Smith, a waiter in his restaurant, on April 13, 1907. His widow's request that a homestead be set aside for her was opposed by Mae E. Lieber, a daughter of Marcovich by a former marriage, but her opposition to this was withdrawn by her attorney, George W. Reed, because the property was community property. Mrs. Marcovich has been allowed $150 a month until the estate is settled.

Marcovich's estate was appraised at $20,179.50. It consists of cash, $850.55; an insurance policy, $1,809.85; 100 shares of stock of the Oakland Association, no value; a half-interest in the Gas Kitchen, $7,500; household furniture, $1000; five shares of stock of the Elks' Hall Association, $410; the home on Thirtieth street, $5000; a lot on Lenox avenue, $3500.

ELABORATE PLANS FOR THE FLEET

Chamber of Commerce and Odd Fellows Getting Ready for Reception.

Secretary Stearns of the Chamber of Commerce said today that no definite plans have yet been formulated for entertaining the officers and men of the fleet in Oakland.

But it has been agreed that the visitors will come to this city on the third day after their arrival. Then there will be a day of rest and on the following day all will come here.

It is proposed to have an afternoon barbecue for the men, an evening banquet for the officers, and to give all free admission to theaters and other places of amusement.

The details of the very elaborate program are to be looked after in the near future.

The general committee of the Odd Fellows decided to have committees on decoration, parade, hall, concert, cloakrooms, transportation, hotel information bureau and badges. Committees were appointed accordingly. J. E. Strelight was appointed on the badge committee, but owing to the condition of the funds he was much hampered in fulfilling his plans. There is, however, an honest purpose in working out these committees. It was decided to have the Grand March and all the state officers present at Idora Park on the afternoon of the day that the Odd Fellows of the fleet are to be entertained and also to extend an invitation to the Odd Fellows and the Red Backs (wherever found) to join with them. This last provision will be emphasized in the near future by the committee.

The answer of Thaw is brief and contains only the barest legal formalities. Russell Peabody, Thaw's counsel, declared that the case would be resolutely contested by his client.

HENEY, SPRECKELS, BURNS HAVE SHOCKED THE COMMUNITY WITH DECLARATIONS GIVING THE LIE DIRECT TO RABBIS NIETO AND KAPLAN---OTHER PERT COMMENT

(From the San Francisco Wasp, Saturday, March 14)

IT IS THE LIE DIRECT.

Francis J. Heney has given Rabbi Kaplan and Rabbi Nieto the lie direct. It is not everybody who likes to stand up and call a minister of the gospel a liar, but Mr. Heney seems to have no squeamishness on that point. Not only does he say that the two esteemed rabbis are liars, but he makes oath to it in his affidavit which has become part of the record of the Superior Court.

Everybody is now asking why did not Mr. Francis J. Heney give the lie to his rabbinical accusers sooner? It is a month since Rabbi Kaplan published his sensational affidavit, in which he described with remarkable clearness, all the secret proceedings in the concession of an immunity contract to Ruef.

SHOCKED THE COMMUNITY.

The community was astonished and shocked by Rabbi Kaplan's revelations. In the opinion of every right-thinking man and woman in San Francisco nothing could justify the liberation of Abe Ruef from prison. It was Ruef's adroit rascality that had made the continuation of Schmitz's scandalous administration a possibility. Not one mitigating circumstance in Ruef's case could be honestly cited. Yet for ulterior motives, of a nature judicially scandalous and morally infamous, the graft prosecutors agreed to pardon the organizer of municipal blackmail and robbery, the debaucher of civic government and defamer of his birthplace.

TWENTY-FIVE YARDS OF EXPLANATION.

Mr. Heney has taken forty-two columns of a daily newspaper to prove that Rabbi Kaplan and Rabbi Nieto have committed the crime of perjury in averring that complete immunity was promised Ruef. This voluminous brief from Mr. Heney's pen is likely to have an effect entirely opposite to what he intended. It strengthens rather than weakens the circumstantial statement of Rabbi Kaplan, inasmuch as it admits all the allegations of secret dickerings, midnight meetings of judges and prosecutors, and other moves of the officers of justice, which cannot be explained by any other hypothesis than a desire to deceive the public and perpetrate some act that would not bear the light of public scrutiny.

MAGNIFICATION OF TRIVIALITY.

Mr. Heney's elaborate defense of himself and his professional and political associates of the graft prosecution, lays great stress upon the trivial details of the negotiations for Ruef's pardon. He seems to think, for example, that it is highly important to show that the proposition to set Ruef free in return for turning State's evidence had emanated from the accusing rabbis; that they met in the kitchen of his residence to avoid reporters; that the conferees sneaked in by the back door; that the first draft of the immunity contract was prepared by an undeciphered and revised by the astute Burns; that Henry Ach allowed his tongue to wag with characteristic loquacity at the secret confabs, etc., etc., etc.

Had Mr. Heney been posing for a moving picture exhibition and been accompanied by a dozen shorthand reporters, who recorded his every word and move, his memory could not be more perfect with regard to all the inconsequential details of his dickerings with Ruef's friends. This photographic accuracy of detail is suggestive of a prisoner who had been caught with the goods on him and who wishes to inform the police judge of all particulars of his life's history, except the highly important one, how he came to be found in such a criminal position when arrested.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT QUESTION.

Why did Mr. Heney and his associates of the graft prosecution involve themselves in negotiations for a barter and sale of justice with Abe Ruef? The whole world knew what a scoundrel Ruef was. Mr. Heney and his confederates were fully aware that all the decent people in San Francisco desired to see Ruef sent to State's prison, and not for a summer holiday, either. There was evidence enough on hand, surely, to send Ruef across the bay for the balance of his life. Mr. Heney, and Mr. Older, and Mr. Livernash, and Mr. Rudolph Spreckels, and the other gentlemen of the graft prosecution had already granted immunity to all the bloodthirsty rascals on the Board of Supervisors to tell what they knew. If not, cheerfully, it seems they had told it without reservation. Ruef had bribed them time and again, they declared. With such testimony at hand, a lawyer who had had the experience of Mr. Heney in sending miscreants to jail should have speeded Ruef to San Quentin within a month. Almost a year has gone by and Ruef is not in the penitentiary, but, on the contrary, has ceased to be the defendant and has become the prosecutor of his prosecutors.

It is Mr. Heney and District Attorney Langdon and Judges Lawlor and Dunne who are really on trial before the people of San Francisco.

A USELESS WADING FEAT.

That is the extraordinary condition of affairs that exist here at present, and you can wade through Mr. Heney's forty-two columns of newspaper protestation and accusation, and wade back again to the beginning, without being convinced in the least that he has done his duty as an officer of the Superior Court in a manner which will win for him the approval of the citizens of San Francisco; or that any of the gentlemen associated with him in the graft prosecution deserves to be regarded as a benefactor of the community.

THE PEOPLE MUST DECIDE.

The public of San Francisco is now called upon to decide the interesting question whether it is Mr. Heney, who lies, or Rabbi Nieto or Rabbi Kaplan who committed perjury. Somebody has sworn falsely. Rabbi Kaplan and Rabbi Nieto have averred that Ruef was promised complete immunity, with Mr. Heney as the principal actor in the concession of pardon to the arch-criminal.

Mr. Heney in his elaborate affidavit minces no words in contradicting the reverend gentlemen who accused him of breach of promise. Mr. Heney says that the statements of the rabbis "are absolutely false and wholly without any foundation," and, furthermore, he makes oath that "each of the reverend gentlemen must have known that the statements were false when he made them."

It is not likely that the question of veracity will ever be thoroughly settled in the courts. The public, however, will settle it thoroughly.

IT IS A SERIOUS QUARREL.

Mr. Heney has shown himself to the people of San Francisco as a man rather disposed to accept a quarrel, and he has certainly sought a very serious one in charging two reputable ministers with perjury. It is not only an aspersion on the gentlemen themselves, but it is a defiance of the religious communities which they represent, and which regard them as moral teachers in good standing whose reputation cannot be destroyed by the word of any one man, especially one who has evinced his sentiments by the rigid exclusion of all their co-religionists from the jury trials in which he exercised supervision.

There cannot be much doubt as to how the public of San Francisco will decide this duel of veracity between Mr. Heney and the clerical gentlemen whom he has classed as criminals. There is no pretense that they had any interests in the matter further than to get Ruef out of his desperate predicament and allay the miseries of his family. They have themselves avowed that they were also moved by the commendable desire to have Ruef confess his crimes and begin a new life.

THE BACK DOOR EPISODE.

It is quite possible that Mr. Heney can make good his allegations against them that they sneaked in by his back door, when they held secret conferences with him, preliminary to that most secret of all conferences, to which Judge Lawlor and Judge Dunne were led by Elisor Biggy. It is to be presumed that Mr. Heney's clerical visitors must have had a quiet intimation that the late would be lifted for them, or they would not have come prowling aimlessly around the rear of his premises. He himself is, however, in doubt as to whether he had an appointment with the rabbis for this clandestine conference in the back kitchen, preliminary to the midnight meeting between the graft prosecutors, the judges, and Ruef's friends in the Synagogue. It is a most remarkable exhibition of mental aberration, that Mr. Heney could remember through forty-two columns of fine newspaper type the most insignificant details of everything that had occurred for the eight months during which Ruef's immunity contract was in existence, and forget such a vital point as a pre-arrangement to meet the rabbis, and discuss the possibility of turning Ruef free upon the community he had outraged.

THE RABBI'S GOOD MEMORY.

There are no such slips in Rabbi Kaplan's statement. The rabbi remembers everything distinctly. He tells just how, when and where he had his conferences with the graft prosecutors, and recalls distinctly the persons who were present. He tells just what Judge Dunne did at the secret midnight meeting, and what Judge Lawlor said. He remembers, vividly, all the talks he had subsequently with Heney and Langdon as to Judge Dunne's promise, that Ruef would be allowed to withdraw his plea of guilty, and be liberated from jail. Every incident related by the rabbi fits accurately into the theory that he is telling the precise truth, nothing extenuating and naught setting down in malice.

IT CARRIES CONVICTION.

Any fair-minded person reading Rabbi Kaplan's statement, and remembering all the judicial shuffling and legal subterfuges carried on by the graft prosecutors in the constant postponement of Ruef's sentence for eight months, will be convinced that the rabbi is an honest man and relates true facts. He, no doubt, as Mr. Heney asserts, went in quietly by the back kitchen to consult with the head lawyer of the graft prosecution, but he was invited to go there, or at least knew that he was expected.

The rabbi undoubtedly knew, too, that Mr. Rudolph Spreckels was to be there to meet him, and Mr. Rudolph Spreckels was there, and so was William J. Burns and William H. Langdon and Charles W. Cobb, the partner of Mr. Heney. The records are silent as to whether Livernash and Older were also on hand.

THE MIDNIGHT MEETING.

By one of those strange coincidences with which the history of the graft prosecution of San Francisco is filled, Mr. Heney and his legal associates were able to adjourn from that secret meeting in the back kitchen, and go straight at midnight to the Synagogue wherein, in the dead of night, the conference with Judges Lawlor and Dunne was held. Rabbi Kaplan avowed on his solemn oath that at that secret judicial conference he was made to believe that Ruef would be given full immunity, and would be allowed to withdraw his plea of guilty in the French restaurant case and plead not guilty. The rabbi is a very intelligent man and bears an excellent reputation in the community.

A SHOCKING IDEA.

Is it conceivable that a man of that character would, after all his private conferences with Heney and his associates, have mistaken the import of the words uttered at that midnight meeting at the Synagogue, when Judge Dunne is alleged to have ratified the immunity contract and Judge Lawlor announced that he would be guided by the recommendations of the District Attorney? Is it not a shocking assumption that a clergyman of Dr. Kaplan's standing should, as Mr. Heney asserts, deliberately misrepresent what was stated at that secret meeting and commit the crime of perjury, which in all cases is abhorrent, and in that of a minister of the gospel would be infamous beyond expression?

What personal purpose could actuate Rabbi Kaplan to commit such a crime? What personal benefit could he obtain by thus blackening his soul? The only reasonable theory is that if he committed such perjury it was for the very lust of lying, and such a conclusion as that is so repugnant to common sense that it would be an insult to the intelligence of a tadpole.

In his forty-two column affidavit to prove that Dr. Kaplan is a perjurer and rascal, who was aided and abetted by Rabbi Nieto, Mr. Heney evidently forgets that the two rabbis were not engaged in any questionable or immoral transaction. Their purpose was to induce Ruef to confess, and thus aid justice by exposing all the rascality in which the corrupt boss had participated.

QUESTIONABLE MOTIVES.

Mr. Heney and his judicial associates were, however, engaged in a proceeding which was more than questionable. They were not seeking information which would enable them to prosecute Ruef, the arch-grafer. They were linked in a conspiracy to turn Ruef loose upon the people of San Francisco, whom he had robbed and disgraced, and their object in that improper purpose, Ruef swears, was to obtain the indictment of the so-called "high-ups," whose conviction certain members of the graft prosecution desired for personal and political reasons—to obtain it by rank perjury extorted from him under the threat to send him to prison for life if he refused to swear strongly enough. It was a disgraceful proceeding for any sworn officer of the Superior Court to have participated in such a conference at midnight or any other time, and the scandal has been intensified and made more notorious by the subsequent developments of intrigue and public deception.

USING HIS MUCK RAKE.

Mr. Heney's voluminous affidavit, is, however, not entirely an indictment of Rabbi Kaplan and Rabbi Nieto for perjury. The distinguished author has used it as a vehicle for conveying to the public a number of accusations and suspicions of prominent citizens, whom he would prefer to indict in the Grand Jury room, if he could but obtain sufficient testimony for the purpose in the columns of yellow newspapers, or on the public platform, than it is to indict them, even with a complaisant Grand Jury lending a willing hand. Mr. Heney has won for himself much distinction by branding people as undesirable citizens, in his addresses to the public, whether in newspaper columns or on the stump, and in his voluminous contribution to the Morning Call he has ably sustained his reputation. He handles the muck-rake with a skill which puts to shame his deftness with the pen, and causes the reader of his scholarly effusion to marvel at this abnormal combination of intellectual force and moral sensibility—qualities possessed separately in a high degree by P. H. McCarthy and the African rhinoceros, but rarely found combined in one living organism.

GREAT MINDS IN SIMILAR CHANNELS.

The workings of the McCarthy cerebrum and that of the chief mind of the graft prosecution seem to be on identical lines. The sandlot mountebank showed to best advantage when handling without gloves the baggy of Herbert George of the Citizens' Alliance. Mr. Heney's genius flares out brightest when he juggles with that terrible political hobgoblin, W. F. Herrin. The name of Herrin appears to run in endless series through his brain, linked with that of Calhoun, Ruef, Ford, Tevis, Gillett and the other pet aversions of the graft prosecution.

A LITERARY PEPPER-BOX.

The impression one gets in reading Mr. Heney's remarkable affidavit is that he writes with a huge pepper-box filled with the names of his enemies and the pronoun I in the proportion of 5 to 50. When in the full swing of his literary composition he scatters the evidences of his personal aversion and his stalwart egotism over the virgin page, so that at the first glance it looks like an autobiography with nearly everything but the personal pronoun omitted.

THE WHOLE THING.

It is only on closer reading that one finds in Mr. Heney's forty-two columns in the Call that anybody but himself cut any ice in the graft prosecution. As with MacGregor, wherever Heney sat or stood was the head of the council board.

On the memorable occasion when the rabbis sneaked into the back kitchen to consult with him and found Mr. Spreckels and the talent of the District Attorney's office, presumably sitting on the table and the stove, every eye was presently focussed on the man from Arizona to the exclusion of all extraneous thought. Langdon, the lay figure of the drama, was allowed to emit a feeble squeak to the effect that come what may in the shape of immunity to Ruef, he had "the last word." Whereat no doubt the cat under the stove giggled in her whiskers, for the only independent utterance of Langdon since the State discovered his existence is, "I'm a standing candidate for all offices."

THE FLAMING ORB.

Later on at the midnight meeting, when the two intellectual comets from the Superior bench flashed into the secret conference, Mr. Heney's light did not pale in the least. Every line of his modest forty-two column narrative convinces us that he was the king-pin and guiding finger of the Punch and Judy show and he moved his puppets as he pleased. Judge Dunne shuffled out to twitter his few lines for the misguidance of the trustful rabbis, and Judge Lawlor hopped across the stage prattling his piece. If Langdon had any part in the show it must have been as unimportant as that of Punch's dog Toby, for Mr. Heney hardly thinks it worth while to mention him.

LANGDON'S FATAL ADMISSION.

District Attorney Langdon has also filed a voluminous affidavit, which is evidently designed to verify Mr. Heney's flood of words and dearth of candor. The most significant admission in Mr. Langdon's affidavit is that as recently as the 19th of January last he interviewed Judge Dunne, and endeavored to induce that jurist to allow Ruef to withdraw his plea of guilty in the French restaurant case, and plead not guilty.

That is precisely what Rabbi Kaplan and Rabbi Nieto said Judge Dunne had promised to do when he attended the celebrated midnight meeting in the Synagogue nearly a year ago, and since which he has been continually postponing the sentence of Ruef for reasons not clearly apparent to people not in the secrets of the graft prosecution.

Any sane person will immediately ask "why District Attorney Langdon should have made this visit to Judge Dunne and endeavored to prevail upon him to grant full immunity to Ruef, unless all the statements of Rabbi Kaplan and Rabbi Nieto in regard to the matter are absolutely true.

THE PUBLIC WITH THE RABBIS.

At least nine-tenths of the public will accept the statement of the two rabbis as truly and honestly made. The unavoidable public inference will be, that after deliberating for two months as to what answer they could make to the serious charges of having deceived the public with regard to the secret dicker with Ruef, the accused officials resolved to extort themselves from their unpleasant predicament by plain unvarnished falsehood.

The public demanded that some reply should be made to the accusations of Rabbi Nieto, and the further charge preferred by Ruef that the District Attorney's office had endeavored to force him into the commission of perjury to commit Ford and Calhoun. For two months the District Attorney's office remained silent amidst this storm of accusation and public indignation, until now the indecent spectacle is presented by Messrs. Langdon and Heney of opposing their oaths against those of two reputable clergymen of first-class standing in the community and of veracity hitherto unimpugned.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL'S PAIN DUTY.

The matter has now become a State scandal of great magnitude, and calls imperatively for the prompt interference of the Attorney-General. If the District Attorney's office is run by such perjurers and political tricksters as Rabbi Kaplan and Rabbi Nieto's affidavits would have us believe control it, they should be removed at once from the position which they disgrace. The filing of affidavits and counter-affidavits from now until doomsday will not settle this matter properly, even though everybody from Judges Dunne and Lawlor to the janitors of their departments, should make oath of what has occurred within the past eight months.

PUBLIC INVESTIGATION NECESSARY.

A public and properly conducted investigation is absolutely necessary and should be commenced immediately. Let the whole matter be threshed out thoroughly. Put Messrs. Langdon and Heney on the witness stand and let them be cross-examined as to all the points in dispute. Let the rabbis be allowed to go upon the witness stand and tell their full story in open court. Compel the judges who have been drawn into the controversy to become witnesses who can be interrogated properly as to all the particulars of the immunity contract, which they are said to have ratified. Give Ruef and everybody else who had part in the secret dickerings a chance to testify and be cross-questioned, with a view to eliciting the full truth.

LANGDON'S ONLY HOPE.

If Mr. Langdon and his conferees have been as upright and truthful as their affidavits assert, they should welcome and not dodge an investigation of that character, for it is the only thing which might possibly save them from public condemnation, and its disastrous consequences. As it is the public is thoroughly impressed by the statements of Rabbi Kaplan and Rabbi Nieto. They are believed to be honest men, telling the unvarnished truth, and leaving no room for doubt in the public mind that Ruef was promised complete immunity and that Judge Dunne at the critical moment fell down and left the graft prosecutors in the mire of public suspicion and opprobrium.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.
All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood, and they work night and day. When the kidneys are weak, the blood is impure, and the system is affected. This impure blood is the cause of many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, dropsy, drops, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.
Mrs. L. B. Seymour, 1919 Milvia street, Berkeley, Cal., says: "I will recommend Doan's Kidney Pills wherever I go. For four or five years I was subject to attacks of kidney complaint. At times I was miserable on account of the distress in my back, and often mornings I could hardly straighten when I got out of bed. Besides the dull aching there was a weakness and lameness that made it difficult for me to rise. The kidney secretions were also irregular and frequently accompanied by a scalding sensation. I also had rheumatism in my right arm and shoulder, and one year I was so bad that I could not bend my arm. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me, and I procured a box. I was greatly surprised at the quick relief I obtained from their use and by the time I had used the contents of two boxes my back was entirely free from all aching and pain and all signs of disorder with the kidney secretion were corrected. I have felt a general improvement in my health and have had scarcely any trouble from rheumatism since using Doan's Kidney Pills. I give the entire credit to this valuable remedy and am pleased to recommend it to others."

The Stevens Kick Against Panama.

John C. F. Stevens chose a bad time for his attack on the Panama canal project and the method of operation now employed. Immediately following the publication of his statement branding the work as "a mistake and a mismanaged fiasco" came the announcement that nearly 3,000,000 yards of material—over 100,000 yards a day—had been excavated during the month of February. This is more than three times the amount excavated any single month during the time Stevens was the chief engineer of the canal commission. Stevens abandoned his job on the canal to take service at a higher salary with a railroad corporation controlled by men hostile to the canal and the Roosevelt administration. He wanted to change plans that had been carefully worked out by others, and was turned down by the Secretary of War. His denunciation at this time of the canal and the method of prosecuting work on it looks like an expression of spite for political effect in the pending campaign. His statement that the canal will have when completed only a small commercial and strategic value is the dictum of a hostile critic. All the lessons of human experience and of obvious fact contradict him. His fling at the method of operation falls pointless before the record of achievement made by his successors. In performance and cheapness of cost the army engineers have distanced him. They have done so much better than he ever did that his condemnation sounds like a snarl of envy and jealousy. Work on the canal will not be delayed by what he has to say. The project will not be abandoned because of his allegation that the canal will have little commercial and strategic value. However, his statement will convince the great majority of people that the government got rid of John C. F. Stevens none too soon. He was not in sympathy with the project and hostile to the plans adopted by the War Department.

The attempt to use the State University as an instrumentality for attacking the integrity of the Supreme and Appellate courts is one of the most scandalous things in the history of California. The men who are misusing their position and abusing their trust to make the State University a part of the Spreckels private prosecution should be rebuked or dismissed. About the surest way to discredit and injure the State University and destroy its usefulness is to Henryize it and make it a school of contempt for the courts and the orderly processes of law. The manifest endeavors of the Wheeler coterie at Berkeley to drag the courts and inject the theories and practice of Lynch law into the jurisprudence of the State deserve the severest reprobation.

Treachery in the Camp.

The privilege of having "Native Sons" as Presidential candidates is certainly right and proper. That New York should want to "boost" Governor Hughes is not anything more against Secretary Taft than is the fact Ohio wants Taft instead of Hughes. But it certainly does seem out of the way that the organs of Republicanism in New York, and this is meant specifically the New York Press, should "boost" Hughes on the strength of vicious attacks on Taft which are not so full of strictures as the ones delivered by the enemy of Democracy.

The support of the New York Press of Republicanism is something like the method of that talented and powerful journalist, Charles Dana. The Sun, during the prime of this wonderful man, was a power. The noted writer's favorite method of tilting with an opponent was to write all the nice things he could imagine and close the article with an expression something along this line—"but despite all these virtues this man was a horse thief, a living menace to the world."

Modern methods have changed the policies of the New York Press. To those who know it is the mouthpiece of Wall street, and not the best of Wall street at that. So that behind the lines, which are in effect the hardest kind of slander against Secretary Taft and reasons for President Roosevelt to accept a third term nomination, can be seen the enmity of those Wall-street interests which are fighting so hard to decry the administration.

In his affidavit Heney truculently declares he only wanted Ruef to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, as he had agreed to do. Did Heney ask Ruef to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth at the trial of Schmitz? Did he not with the aid of the presiding judge suppress the truth by closing the mouth of Ruef? Did he not practice a deception on the jury and the public (the court was "wise") in regard to the contract of immunity. Did he not prevent Ruef from testifying in cross examination whether there was any corrupt understanding between himself and Schmitz in the French restaurant matter? If Heney did not want the truth told, then when did he want it told?

In his Berkeley speech Francis J. Heney stigmatized Rabbi Nieto and Rabbi Kaplan as perjurers. This sort of denunciation will not dispose of the issue raised by the affidavits of the two divines. If the reverend gentlemen have stated the truth Heney is guilty, not only of perjury, but subornation of perjury and conspiracy to indict. Vilification and sneers at the race and religion of the two rabbis cannot vindicate Heney nor does his blatant pretense of moral superiority lift his conduct above suspicion and examination. His boasts of sending other men to prison do not prove that he ought not to be in jail himself.

Much of the womanly sympathy in this world which has been spent on Smyrna and its people will be repented now. In a late consular report to the government is the statement that the leading carpet manufacturers there have entered into a combine—into a large corporate company to boost prices. The day of the rug has come. Missionary work has had its reward and these pupils of Christianity have caught on to all that the world teaches—get it all.

The insurance people should not allow the Call to bother them. The Call at all times is either a fool or a liar. It is always malicious. It is the product of predatory wealth and the expression of low manners and mean motives. In other words, it is a reflection of its master.

Theatrical managers are now uniting—for once at least harmoniously—to demand from the railroads the retraction of their recent ruling advancing car charges.

Just when it seemed that nothing could be done further to increase the popular regard for Roosevelt along comes Haywood to the rescue.

The lesson of the spring flood—boost for storage dams.

FACULTY FLUNKS SEVERAL ON FRIDAY THE 13TH

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 14.—"Friday the 13th" was certainly an unlucky day for twelve students who failed to meet the standard of efficiency set by the Faculty, and were asked to withdraw. The topic of conversation on the campus today was the unprecedented action of the committee on the mid-semester reports.

Two weeks ago the resignations of six other students were requested and sixteen have been placed on probation. Four hundred and forty-seven students were warned that they were delinquent in one or more studies. If they fail to meet the requirements of the Faculty Committee there will be many more expulsions at the end of the semester.

The matter of drinking on and off the campus is also agitating the students, as any student caught imbibing does so at the peril of expulsion.

To Owners of Bad Breath—

Foul Odor of Indigestion, Smoking, Eating or Drinking Stopped at Once With Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

Trial Package to Prove It Sent Free. Billions of breathers, onion eaters, indigestive, smokers, drinkers and those with gas on their stomach are in a class all by themselves, distinguished by a powerful bad breath.

They breathe, and as they breathe they whiff out odor which makes those standing near turn their heads away in disgust. The pitiable part of it is that these victims do not realize what a sickening thing a bad, offensive breath is to other people.

Charcoal is a wonderful absorber of gases and odors. It absorbs 100 times its own volume of gas.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges will put a stop to your bad breath, bad odor, and to your belchings, whatever the cause or source, because the charcoal quickly absorbs all noxious, unnatural odors and gases.

If you suffer from indigestion and belch gas as a result, Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges will absorb all the gas and make you stop belching.

If on getting up in the morning you have such a bad, offensive breath, you can almost immediately get rid of it for you quickly.

If you have been smoking or chewing, or have been eating onions or other odorous things, Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges will make your breath pure and sweet.

Charcoal is also the best laxative known. You can take a whole boxful and no harm will result. It is a wonderfully easy regulator.

And then, too, it filters your blood—every particle of poison and impurity in your blood is destroyed, and you begin to notice the difference in your face first thing—your complexion.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made from pure willow charcoal, and just a little house is put in to make them palatable, but not too sweet.

They will work wonders in your stomach, and make you feel fine and fresh. Your blood and breath will be purified. You will feel clean inside.

We want to prove all this to you, so just send for the free sample today. After you get it and use it, you will like them so well that you will go to your druggist and get a box of these Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

Send us your name and address today, and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

RELIANCE BOUTS PROVE GREAT SUCCESS

BRITT-M'FARLAND MATCH HAS CHANGED PROMOTERS

James Wellington Coffroth Has Won First Battle Between Promoters--Attell to Meet Joe Gans.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

Now what do you think of that? Only Jim the man that seems to have chosen the role of the villain in the drama of the fight promoters has slipped up in the night and with the salve well spread he has stolen the McFarland-Britt match from Samuel Berger.

Sam was making his first start with the above match but at no time after his arrival to San Francisco from the south did he refuse over the prospect of making money on the show and feeling as he did he became thoroughly convinced that he was giving Britt a chance to redeem himself with the San Francisco people at the risk of losing money.

The pathway of the promoters who have lately broken into the boxing game in San Francisco has not been strewn with roses and the fact that none of them had made any money made Sam sit up and think.

With this bit of knowledge away in his thinking machinery, Sam went to James Edward who has the distinction of being one of the wealthiest pugilists in the game and insisted that he in a way guarantee the club against loss in promoting the McFarland-Britt contest.

Jimmy Coffroth had the scouts out all this time and when the evening consultation was held the gang informed him that there was a rift in the club and immediately plans were laid to entrap the clever Chicagoan. The next afternoon found James in an automobile on his way to Colma. When the clever pugilist arrived every thing was just as he thought it would be and he was not a bit surprised when he found the training camp where he had been told that James might feel was smart enough to peek into the little game.

Well the next reference was held with Harry Gilmore in the shade of a weeping willow tree in Millers' yard and in agreement was reached the car to our smile that adorned the face of Coffroth told too plainly that he had about accomplished his purpose.

The one fellow who might have caught on was not a Berger detective so the informant did not reach the collar and left the man and the match was lost.

This is the last real battle between Coffroth and the new promoters and the victory is apparently with Only Jim. The man signed articles last night the principal feature being that the men agreed to make 133 pounds at 10 o'clock on the morning of the contest, and to enter the ring at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday April 11th. The purse is to be set aside from 50 per cent of the gross gate receipts this 50 per cent to be split 60 per cent to the winner and 40 per cent to the loser.

A list of dummy names were then added to the articles from whom a referee is to be chosen. Britt announced that he was willing to accept any one of the mentioned parties and Gilmore insisted that as he was the stronger here he was entitled to select the referee.

The parties then each took a turn at suggesting names of referees who have officiated in San Francisco until the articles were padded with six men, some of whom have no more chance to be the third man in the ring than Britt's father would. The articles were then signed and Sam Berger was in for a fight that he had been counted out.

Gans and Attell Matched. During all this time Samuel Berger seems to have been wide awake however for last evening he announced that he had signed Abe Attell and Joe Gans for a twenty round contest at the lightweight limit 133 pounds at 8 o'clock.

Some few weeks ago the writer predicted that this match would eventually be made for San Francisco at that time many people doubted the foundation of the story but it now looks as if the match was a reality. Berger is of the opinion that he is better off with this contest up his sleeve than he is allowing the fighters 50 per cent instead of 40 that he was allowing Britt and McFarland.

Gans will have a handicap of about ten pounds of weight and should win the bout but the contest will be exceedingly interesting from the fact that the two cleverest men of the ring will be pitted against each other.

Murphy vs. Thompson. This afternoon Johnnie Murphy and Cyclone Johnnie Thompson will meet at the Mission street arena in a battle that to Murphy is the turning point of his career. Both men are fighting not alone for the long end of the purse but for future recognition by the fight public. The fight is looked upon by the followers of the game as one in which some great milling may be seen.

Mr. E. Z. Mark Makes Big Wail

CHICAGO March 14.—Believing that he had lost an opportunity to make a small fortune C. E. Vail a building agent threatened to prefer charges against two city detectives yesterday when they interrupted a conversation at the Western Union building and arrested William Loftus said by the police to be a well known confidence man.

It developed that Loftus had induced Vail to agree to place $2000 on a horse running in the third race at New Orleans after he had been led to believe that Loftus would receive the first information of the winner because of an alleged acquaintance with the manager of the telegraph company.

The detectives were walking by the building when they recognized Loftus and decided to investigate.

BROOKLEAF DEFEATS SAN ALVISO IN PURSE EVENT

Red Hot Choice Outgamed in Final Strides --Large Fields Bring Joy to the Bookies--Turf Gossip.

BY LEE DEMIER.

Two purse events one for long distance runners and one for sprinters furnished the feature of yesterday's racing card at the Reliance Club. The four remaining races were of the ordinary variety and made up of large ordinary fields but despite this fact the talent had a very profitable day.

Scarcely two lengths separated the first six horses as they dashed under the flag in the opening race and Hammond took the choice just got up to grab the lead as the gate opened. In a drive Charlie Fletcher nosed out Rosendo for second place. The latter made a nice showing for his first out.

On Parole was away on his toes and made a show of his field in the dash for two year olds winning by half a dozen open lengths. In a drive Charlie Fletcher nosed out Rosendo for second place. The latter made a nice showing for his first out.

St. Avon and Wap fought it out over the inch of the wall through the stretch in the third race and the latter won by a head. Wap hung on with the tenacity of a dog but could not get the victory from St. Avon. The latter was a very fast half a length at the wire. St. Avon was a very fast half a length at the wire. St. Avon was a very fast half a length at the wire.

Also the choice in the fourth race a purse event for long distance runners. The favorite was all the way and was only beaten in the final strides by the winner which finished on an improved race to be third.

Taunt, the favorite, ran to the front at the start of the race and won the race in a gallop. Jack Adams curled up badly at the end but had enough left to stall out the determined bid for Fox which closed like a cyclone.

Fantastic was best in the closing and after the excitement had worked it up St. Avon and Wap went away. St. Avon got up in time to beat Rosendo for the place. While the horses were at the post in the fifth race the crowd at the Reliance Club on the hill would have been sufficiently painful to prevent him riding. Fox and Sandy were substituted at the last moments, twenty minutes being allowed for a new book.

An immensely interesting card is of forced racecourse today. The Reliance Club stakes at four miles is the main item of interest with the Glenwood and Suseo Handicaps as added features. High class performers will make a sides in each event and an afternoon of keen sport should develop.

Pay Carlo has developed into a maul eater. The Steady State which was a starter in the fifth race hit Jackey Gilhort in the arm. The hit was so bad that the noted bookie had to be taken off of Fox and Sandy substituted.

The Broadway Club laid tops on all the favorites yesterday.

Jack Case will from now on make the engagements for Jockey Mel on who will remain riding on Monday.

Chicago had comparatively little trouble in winning.

Coulon Retains Bantam Title.

LOS ANGELES March 14.—Johnny Coulon of Chicago bested Young Terry McGovern before the McCarty Club here last night in ten fast rounds of eight.

Coulon showed himself to be a vicious battler and carried the mill to McGovern at all stages of the game.

Coulon showed a dangerous right-hand punch and once he got warmed up to his work he gave to McGovern a rather luscious lacing.

Native Sons to Play Islanders

The Native Sons team of Athens Parlor will go over to Goat Island Sunday to play a return game.

Manager Gilbons of the Pensacolas has promised to get even with the Natives for the beating they administered the sailor boys two weeks ago. The line up for Sunday will be as follows: Tugboat third base Murphy short stop Wathourns first base Volquardsen catcher. Left field Cooper second base Fikan pitcher. Leftfielder right field Duffer center field.

Last Sunday the Natives met the crack Prolet team meeting defeat at the hands of the college boys 3 to 1. However before the game was over the St. Marys players came to the conclusion that they were up against a rattling good team considering that the Natives have only played two games this season while the college players are at practice nearly every day.

The Natives held their opponents down without a run for six innings while the Athens Parlor players scored one run in the second.

One of the features of the game was the phenomenal work of Fielder "Ginger" Bill Pez who threw two men out at the plate besides making an almost impossible catch of a line-drive.

Manager Wille of the Natives is arranging for games at Vallejo and Monterey to complete the month's schedule.

Albion Rovers to Meet the Thistles

Tommy Burns, Suffering from Sore Eye, Has Good Lamp on Big Purse

Although Tommy Burns is suffering somewhat sorely from a sore on his post optic he believes that he will be a valiant enough to sit up and enjoy the nourishing pastime of walloping Jim Roche at Dublin Town Ireland March 17.

Mr. Burns is suffering from a malady of the optic nerve which the experts of the London Lancet call moneyoptics. Burns so the London experts declare has strained his eye counting the money he has picked up in London. And they declare that he is suffering from no optical illusion. He is rather from the great strain of continuously looking at golden money at short range.

One night Tommy placed his bundle on a table and after contemplating it lovingly for seven and one eighth hours he began to complain that his eye hurt him.

He said the pile had been a bit larger would not have been such a strain but that continually looking at the "poke" of the respectable dimensions that he has collected worked havoc with his optic nerve. The rest of his nerve however is in pungent shape and he has decided that he will battle Jim Roche on St. Patrick's Day unless the eye that never sees anything but money goes back on him.

In the meantime Lil Arthur Johnson is also suffering from an eye malady but it is of a rather different nature. Arthur has been looking so long and so far for signs of Burns that he cannot see anything at a distance closer than three thousand miles and experts declare he is suffering from a severe attack of a hypermetropic nature.

Physicians say however that when Johnnie sees Mr. Burns in the ring that his optical distress will pass away.

While these gentlemen are suffering from eye afflictions Jim Roche has a distressed heart and the doctors are slipping him digitals to strengthen his ticker.

Jim has set himself up as a seer for March 17. He expects to tell that there will be a good house present when the men hook up.

Burns has little fear of meeting with any reverse at the hands of Roche.

Russian Lion is in America

NEW YORK March 14.—George Hackenschmidt the champion wrestler of the world who will meet Frank Gotch the American champion, in Chicago on April 3 who arrived in this city yesterday on board the steamer Lusitania said he was in good health and confident of his ability to defeat the American champion. The Russian Lion says he does not want to be misunderstood by the American public.

I would like to have it understood he said that whatever may be the outcome of the match between Gotch and myself it will be an absolutely square contest in which the best man will win.

While Hackenschmidt feels fine he is not quite in the best wrestling condition. I have been working for the past year and have had little time in which to train but I know that with two weeks training I will be in perfect shape.

To keep himself in shape on the way over the giant competed in potato races on deck and amused the strangers by the swiftness with which he could carry his giant size from one bucket to another.

When he was told that Gotch was a great wrestler he said "I'm glad to hear it. If he is as good as reports say he is our bout should prove a good one."

Hoppe Defeats Jake Shaefer

CINCINNATI March 14.—Willie Hoppe defeated Jake Shaefer here last night at 15-1 billiards by a score of 400 to 135. Hoppe's high run was 110 and Shaefer's 40.

Early in the night Keller lovingly caressed Gardner's port listener. It was a sweet tap indeed. After it landed Gardner felt for the listener to see if it was still appended to his head, and finding it still there but badly shattered, he appeared thankful, although he complained to Referee Smith that Keller must have carested him with a bung starter.

Shortly after this Gardner returned Keller's compliments by handing him a wallop on the port optic which was a good mate for one of the twin peaks. With the bump Keller lost the gauge of Gardner and he missed nearly all his well intended leads.

Gardner kept playing Keller with wallops from the second round on, and the whole marvel of the thing was that under a stringy youth could stand up under the onslaught in the sixth round Keller was in a lamentable condition. He lost his compass and was sailing in a squally blizzard of blows, when Referee Smith stepped in and did the good Samaritan act. At that the referee acted none too hastily for those near the ring saw a mist gathering on Keller's eyes and a tremble about his entire frame which showed that nature was exhausted and that it would be first cousin to a crime to let him continue further. Smith stopped the boys after they had gone about a minute of the sixth round and gave Gardner the contest.

DALE GARDNER WINS MAIN EVENT FROM TERRY KELLER

Referee Eddie Smith Stops the Bout in Sixth Round When Utah Lad Is in Dangerous Condition.

BY T. P. MAGILLIGAN.

There was a merry swish of the gloves at the Reliance Athletic Club last night and the gentlemen who were among those present went away in high good glee, and voting the nights sport the best seller of the season.

Terry Keller and Dale Gardner met in the main event and Referee Smith in the interest of humanity stopped the bout in the sixth round so that Keller's folks would not have to go to the Bertillon bureau to identify him when he returned home.

Gardner is a poetic fighter, but at that he has some kick in his gloves. Keller is the prosaic type and can take a walloping that would make the battling Oregon envious of his assailant.

While Gardner is fighting he continually looks over his opponent's head. (A good English for head) bows to the audience and does the grand old fashioned thing.

At times however Dale can slip in a caress that has the convincing power of night stick and when he is not doing his theatricals, he sometimes lands one of these wild wallops.

He landed many such last night to the complete annoyance of Mr. Keller.

Gardner rocked Keller from the first round, and if he had attended to the business strictly instead of posing, it would have been the red cross call.

Top Perry. But Dale must pose and this explains why Gardner went the six rounds.

Early in the night Keller lovingly caressed Gardner's port listener. It was a sweet tap indeed. BERKELEY March 14.—In a rather brisk game of basketball the St. Vincent's College team defeated the varsity nine here yesterday afternoon by a score of 11 to 10. This is the same team that recently lost a series with Stanford.

California did not play up to its usual form. The pitching was poor on both sides and a number of long hits were slatted out on both sides. Butler of California walloped out a home run.

Grasps Child From Awful Death in Fire

FIREMAN RISKS LIFE TO SAVE BABE FROM DEATH IN FLAMES

Crawls Through Smoke to Cradle

BERKELEY, March 14.—Lon Buchin, fireman of Fire Company No. 5, risked his life to save a year-old baby that had been forgotten by its parents in the panic that followed the explosion of a lamp in the big three-story frame lodging-house at Telegraph avenue and Parker streets about 11 o'clock last night.

The flash of the blazing lamp was followed by screams and cries of terror from the members of two Italian families that occupied the apartments where the explosion occurred. The structure is a veritable tinder-box and it seemed as if there would be a big fire.

Around the corner is the Regent-street firehouse and the proximity of the fire company and the prompt arrival of the apparatus alone prevented a holocaust. The fireman were climbing in the windows and rushing hose through windows as quickly as the reels could be unturned.

Fight in Darkness.
Inside the hallways were a mass of smoke and wildly scurrying people. With the exception of the family of James Gorman, which occupies the ground floor as an undertaking parlor and funeral chapel, the inmates were Italians and Swiss people. Mothers rushed about in the darkness calling for their children, and had to be forced out of the corridors and danger of suffocation by the firemen. When the panic was at its height Mrs. Morini discovered that one of her children was missing, a year-old baby.

Her appeals to the bystanders to find the missing child were frantic. Fireman Buchin, learning that the baby had been put to bed early in the evening, conjectured that it was probably still in its cradle. The hallway and rooms where the family lived were full of fire and smoke, through which Buchin fought his way on hands and knees, and sometimes crawling until he found the sought-for baby quietly sleeping.

Around it the room was all on fire and another moment would have set the cradle in flames. Catching the baby in his arms, Buchin dashed through the suffocating haze and staggered with his burden down the stairs just in time to fall into the arms of his comrades in a dead faint.

The loss by the fire, which was small, owing to the prompt action of the members of Company 5, was about $1000.

PREACHER WHO ELOPED WITH GIRL IS DESTITUTE; THEIR BABY DYING

MRS. COOKE.

MUST STAND TRIAL FOR SHOOTING WIFE

Testimony of Ten-Year-Old Girl Proves of Advantage to the Prosecution.

S. A. Brandon, a grocer clerk who, on the night of January 13 shot his wife in the breast and then fired a bullet into his own neck, following a quarrel in their apartment in the Olive House, 715 Twelfth street, was held for trial to the Superior Court in $2000 bonds this morning by Police Judge Smith.

Mrs. Doretta Brandon, the wife who has fully recovered from her wound, as has the husband, was called to the stand but refused to give testimony, the couple having settled all differences.

It was largely to the testimony of 10-year-old Laura Reinhardt, sister of Mrs. Brandon, who was a most unwilling witness, that Brandon was held for trial. When the child who was an eye-witness to the shooting, took the stand she replied to all of the questions put to her by Prosecuting Attorney DeLoach, that she had forgotten all about the case. Finally Judge Smith took the child in hand and her answers were a feature of the case.

See here, Miss Reinhardt," said Judge Smith, "how is it that you have forgotten all about the case? Did your sister tell you to forget?"

"No, sir; I forgot because I was afraid," she replied.

"Afraid of what?" questioned the judge.

"Was there shooting?" was the judge's next question.

"Yes, sir; Brandon shot my sister," replied the girl, thus informing the court of the facts of the case and at the same time being innocent of having given testimony of advantage to the prosecution.

CONTRA COSTA RESIDENTS TABOO GARBAGE DUMPING
Ready to Take Radical Steps to Prevent Disease.

Contra Costa county is soon to make emphatic protest against the dumping of Berkeley garbage to the north of the Alameda county line. The protest movement is headed by Assemblyman Harry Ellis, Supervisor, Ralph Harrison and others, and it is feared that it will prove of too large dimensions for the college town to handle.

A meeting was held yesterday in San Francisco, at which the men named, several members of the Board of Health and P. F. Bradshaw, chairman of the Citizens' Health Committee of Berkeley, were present. No action was taken; at this time, but preparations were made for a meeting to be held soon in the neighborhood of Stags to register formal protest against the dumping of garbage north of McKeever's hill and for taking legal steps if the objection is not heeded.

CLUB IN FAVOR OF SANITATION

Clinton Improvers Endorse Action of City Council in Appropriating $20,000.

The Clinton Improvement Club placed itself on record last night as endorsing the action of the City Council in appropriating $20,000 monthly for sanitation. Speeches on the subject were made by E. S. Bingham, F. N. Belgrano and others. The garbage matter was also brought to the attention of the improvers, and while many different methods of gathering and disposing of the refuse were considered nothing definite was decided upon.

E. S. Bingham of the sanitary committee announced that great progress was being made in the extermination of rats in East Oakland. He expressed himself as believing that the worst is over and that little difficulty will be experienced in ridding the district of the balance of the plague-carrying rodents.

After the call of the meeting by President Sanford and the reading of minutes, the election of officers for the ensuing six months was held. John E. Sanford was re-elected president. J. A. Evans, first vice-president. W. A. McKenney, second vice-president. L. C. Cobblestick, secretary and treasurer, and E. S. Bingham, J. Rudy, W. Hargis, L. Lenz and F. N. Belgrano on the executive committee.

RAISE DREDGING BIDS THIS YEAR

Higher Price Because the Mud Cannot Be Sold to Anybody.

The United States Army Board of Engineers yesterday took under advisement the bids of five companies of dredging Oakland harbor. This action was taken not because the board hopes to do the work cheaper, but merely to consider what part of the work shall be done first. Secretary Stearns of the Chamber of Commerce and E. C. Sessions Jr., both agree that the engineers have made a miscalculation. Last year the work was done for 12-12 cents per cubic yard. Put this was due to the fact that the contracting company had a private agreement with Geo. C. of the Western Pacific Railroad to fill in the eastern section of that road.

As there is no chance to sell the mud this year and because the place to be dredged is hard pan, the lowest bid this year is 18-24 cents for the eastern section and 18-12 cents for the western section.

Persons desiring further information should address the Commandant, Navy Yard, Mare Island, California.

UNHAPPY COUPLES SEEKING DIVORCE

Actions Commenced and Various Complaints Are Made in Asking for Separation.

"I won't pay the money," said John Vierra after Judge Ellsworth had ordered him to give his wife, Mary, $25 a month alimony pending the trial of a divorce. His remark was not heard by the court.

Each accuses the other of cruelty. Mrs. Earl Henry, the bride of five months who says she was kidnapped by her husband, locked in a room in a lodging house and held a prisoner for two days, was granted $25 a month alimony yesterday by Judge Ellsworth. The alimony is to continue pending the divorce action Mrs. Henry has instituted. The young woman testified she had gone to her mother's home and was penniless. The court's order gives Mrs. Henry $50 for attorney's fees and $15 for costs of suit, in addition to alimony.

Claims Death Threat.

Kathryn Montgomery, through her attorney, Abe P. Leach, brought suit for a divorce from John D. Montgomery, whom she accuses of having threatened to kill her. She also says she struck her on several occasions. They were married in Portland June 21, 1907, and have one daughter, Margaret, aged 7 years. Their home is at Thirty-third and West streets.

Isaac Rothea asks a divorce from Mary Rothea, alleging she deserted him. Yoshimatsu Yoshino brought suit for a divorce from Shiku Yoshino. Suit for divorce on the ground of habitual intemperance was brought today by Catherine Albrecht against Frederick Albrecht Jr., a cigar dealer of San Francisco. Mrs. Albrecht asks the court to award her the custody of their three minor children and alimony to the amount of $100 a month.

ALLEGED BURGLAR HAS A LONG CRIMINAL RECORD

Negro Caught by Police Leaving Home With Booty.

Fred W. Lee, a negro who was arrested Wednesday night by Detectives Holland, Flynn and McSorrey, accused of the burglary of the home of Mrs. K. Grasso, 64 Seventh street, having been caught in the act, proves to have a long criminal record. When taken into custody he had in his possession a pair of diamond earrings which had been stolen from the Grasso home. An investigation of his record shows that he has served ten years in Sing Sing, ten years in San Quentin and three years in Folsom, each sentence having been on larceny charges. Lee's capture was largely due to the watchfulness of women in the neighborhood. Lee was seen by Mrs. Lewis, living across the street from the Grasso home, to enter the place. The woman at once went to a nearby livery stable and telephoned the facts of the case to police headquarters. Detectives responded, and Lee was arrested as he came out of the house which he had robbed of the diamonds.

FOUR FOUND GUILTY OF DEFRAUDING STATE

Sanderson, contractor; William P. Snyder, former auditor general; W. L. Matues, former State treasurer, and James M. Shumaker, former superintendent of public buildings and grounds.

LORETTA WHALEY. JERE KNODE COOKE IS TOO PROUD TO ASK AID

Floretta Whaley's Bitter Grandmother Scorns Telegram Asking Money to Buy Food and Medicine.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Jere Knode Cooke, a deposed pastor who created a national sensation and shocked aristocratic society of Long Island by leaving his wife and children and taking with Floretta Whaley, a beautiful 17-year-old girl of his parish, is destitute and sick, and his baby is at death's door, because of the father's inability to provide medical treatment.

Cooke, while given plenty of opportunity to work at his adopted trade of painting and decorating, has been ill for some weeks and has been unable to earn sufficient money to supply the needs of his little family.

Pride, however, has kept him from appealing to his friends here.

His child-wife has sent a pitiful appeal to her grandmother, Mrs. Knod, who lives at 1111 Broadway, L. I., in the hope that she might be able to get a portion of $5000 which she inherited.

The grandmother refuses to aid Floretta and her dying baby, and said in an interview last night:

"Yes, I did receive the message, but I have no intention of sending the money and never will send any. Cooke is probably trying to get Floretta to support him, but she never will give me any money I send."

When asked if she thought Mrs. Cooke would get a divorce, she said she hoped not, as she never wanted to see Floretta married to Cooke.

Neighbors Sympathize.

Friends of the young couple, where they live at Hyde and Green streets, under the name of Balcom, express genuine sympathy for them, and as soon as they satisfy themselves of the facts in the case, intend taking some action to relieve their wants.

Mrs. Hazel Starkhouse, who lived with the Cooke up to the time of the discovery of Cooke's identity, stated last night that she had received a letter from Mrs. Cooke only a short time ago and at that time she said nothing about any trouble.

"She asked me to see two or three people in the neighborhood here to whom she owed a few small bills, and tell them for her that she was in hopes of being able to pay them shortly," Mrs. Starkhouse said. "None of the people to whom I spoke care whether they are paid or not, and say that as far as they are concerned the Cooke can keep the money."

STEALS TELEPHONE WHILE GUESTS OF HOTEL LOOK ON

A tall man in a gray suit walked calmly into the office of the Hotel Raymond, 1070 Jefferson street, last evening, stepped into the telephone booth, cut the connecting wires, wrenched the telephone slot machine and all from the wall and calmly walked out of the place with the whole business under his arm. The money box contained about forty cents. The hotel clerk was so surprised by the calm, deliberate and daring manner that he sat dazed and wondering why the man had failed to take the telephone booth also. When he recovered from his surprise and shock he ran into the street to look for the man, but he had disappeared.

BIDS ARE RECEIVED FOR REMOVING GARBAGE

Contracts for Taking Refuse of City to Sea to Be Awarded on Monday.

On Monday the Board of Works will let a contract for one year for the removal of the city's garbage to sea in barges, the contract to be let to provide that the garbage must be taken at least three miles out to sea and that it shall be dumped at least at minimum tonnage per day to be not less than 500 tons. Each of the bids was accompanied by a certified check for $1000.

Less than 300 tons per day, $300 per day; 300 to 400 tons per day, $400 per day; 400 to 500 tons per day, $500 per day. Beadle Brothers' bid, which was not verified, was for $250 per day for 355 consecutive days, tonnage not specified. Ed B. Webster agreed under his bid to remove the garbage for eight cents per ton, the minimum tonnage per day to be not less than 500 tons. Each of the bids was accompanied by a certified check for $1000.

Months afterwards when they were discovered in this city, living at a flat at 1195 Green street, where a little boy had been born to them.

MRS. MARTIN TO BE ARRAIGNED MONDAY

Prisoner Taken to County Jail, Where She Gets Permission to Smoke.

Mrs. Isabella J. Martin was ushered into a small room, about eight feet square, yesterday afternoon when she was taken from the city prison to the county jail to await her trial for blowing up the home of Judge Ogden, and the spectacle of three grinning negroes, her future bunkmates, met her eyes.

"Oh, I can't stand that," she cried to Matron White.

"You'll have to," said Mrs. White, "there's no other place to put you."

So Mrs. Martin, seeing that it was no use to rebel, made a change of front. She went back into the little room and took another look. "The air's lovely; I guess I'll stay," she said.

Tells Her Troubles.
There are six bunks in the little room, three upper and three lower. The negroes had already appropriated to themselves the upper berths. Mrs. Martin had to content herself with a lower. At first she ignored her companions, but soon she warmed into conversation and told them her troubles. "Baby" John's alleged insanity was the subject of much of it.

Her companions are Eva Swanson, accused of being the principal in a cutting scrape, Alice Williams, whom a Chinese accuses of picking his pocket, and Lily Johnson, who is waiting trial for robbery. They all feel complimented by the presence among them of their distinguished room-mate.

One of the first things Mrs. Martin wanted to know when she arrived in the county jail was whether she would be permitted to smoke cigars for what her defense will be. "The cigars here, Mr. White?" she asked of the jailer.

"No," said White; "if you've got good ones, I'll help you out with them myself."

She produced a five-cent variety and puffed at one of them with much enjoyment. She smoked cigars incessantly.

Mrs. Martin will not be permitted to have meals brought to her from outside of the jail. She will have to be satisfied with the prison fare for the most part. The rules at the county jail are strict in this regard. Prisoners, if they pay for the privilege, can have milk, eggs and a few other luxuries brought in to them, but no meat and no money. Sheriff Barnett feeds his boarders well, however.

Judge Wells of Contra Costa county will arraign Mrs. Martin Monday afternoon. She will be asked to plead guilty or not guilty to the charge of dynamiting Judge Ogden's home, and unless a continuance is granted, the date of her trial will then be set. As yet Mrs. Martin has not announced what her defense will be, nor has she seen an attorney. District Attorney Brown issued an order last night, after her arrival at the county jail, that she is to be allowed to visit no visitors.

Sends for Judge Frick.
Mrs. Martin's lawyer sent for this morning by Mrs. Isabella Martin, who desires to procure his services to defend her.

Mr. Frick spent an hour or so at the County Jail in consultation with Mrs. Martin, but has not as yet finally determined whether he will undertake her defense or not. In any event, he will probably appear for her at her arraignment on Monday.

THE MEDDLER

MRS. JOHN MOREHOUSE, JR.

Of course there are no large nor important social dates in Lent—even those who do not keep a church observance of it are glad of the rest, and respect the conscientious scruples of those who keep the six weeks.

All of the churches now plan many observances, so that the period of Lent appeals to many people much more than it used to a few years ago.

In the Catholic and Episcopal Churches there are daily services, and many prominent people make the daily visit to church part of the day's routine. In the East, there are clubs specially planned for Lent, not bridge clubs, though many people who are devout church goers play cards in Lent.

In the East there are many Lenten sewing bees, and the results of the work are given to the poor. One of the most interesting clubs among the smart set in the East is a "discussion club," which is really a book club. It is really one of the most interesting and most instructive of the many New York clubs.

The rules and regulations of a discussion club are very simple. On a stated day each week the club meets at the house of one of the members, and each member comes prepared to give her opinion upon the work which has been read since the previous meeting. With each successive book that is read and discussed, new points will be discovered and keener interest awakened in the reading.

Among the younger girls the classics are generally studied, and there are any number of novels of the present day which have much to recommend them.

Among the season's debutantes and young women who have been out for some years, as well as among the younger set, discussion clubs have been much in vogue during the winter, and already a number of these book clubs are being organized to be kept up during Lent.

A luncheon at the home of the member where the meeting is held, or an informal tea when the discussion has taken place in the afternoon, winds up the meeting most delightfully and refreshes the tired brains after their hour's work of hard thinking and arguing.

SEWING AT THE TEA PARTIES.

At many of the informal San Francisco teas lately the younger guests were asked to bring their sewing, and it is really remarkable what beautiful hand work some of the girls have learned to do.

A good many of the girls are knitting the silken ties which have been such a fad in the East lately, and which are destined to be equally fashionable.

ionable on our coast in the near future.

One of the most enjoyable of the teas was that given by Miss Marian Huntington. She was in China and Japan not long ago and she brought home with her many new ideas in the way of artistic needlework. Mr. and Mrs. Brockway Metcalf are spending some days with Mrs. Huntington in the latter's home across the bay.

AUTO TRIPS THE THING FOR SPRING.

With the coming of spring days automobile trips are the order of the hour, and some of the more enthusiastic motorists have already undertaken expeditions far afield.

Among the more courageous of the automobilists are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chanslor. Last week they motored to Del Monte, and among their guests were Mrs. Thomas Watkins, Miss Watkins and Miss Warren.

DUNNS TO VISIT IN OAKLAND.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie Livingston Dunn are planning to spend the summer in Oakland and are now comfortably established at the Hotel St. Mark. Mr. Dunn has established large business interests in West Oakland, and they will keep him on this side of the bay for the next six months.

Mrs. Dunn was formerly Gertrude Allen, the very popular daughter of Mrs. James Costigan. The Costigans have a lovely home in Mill Valley in which they spend a large part of each year.

Mrs. Dunn's school days were all spent in Oakland, and she has many warm friends on this side of the bay.

Other prominent people who are residing at the Hotel St. Mark are Mr. and Mrs. Suro, whose marriage took place in Southern California early in the winter.

FLOWER PAGEANT AT HONOLULU.

From Honolulu comes a description of one of the most gorgeous flower pageants ever seen in the Hawaiian Islands. There is always a big floral parade in Honolulu on Washington's birthday and each year sees it undertaken with more enthusiasm. The papers bring us wonderful accounts of a gay scene, which must have resembled the fairyland of one's childhood more than anything else. The floral decorations were bewilderingly beautiful, and the costumes were the most artistic that might be found in any floral parade, not excepting the historical ones of the Riviera.

There were automobiles, boats, wonderful floats, carriages, surreys, traps, wagonettes, Hawaiian princesses, cowboys, and "all nations in one." News-notes from the islands bring us a fine description of the machines in line, driven by people well known here, for the prizes were carried off by the Alexander Youngs, the George Fairchilds, and the von Hamm.

The Youngs lived for so many years at Rose Crest that they have many friends here who are always interested in news of them. George Fairchild Jr. has lived in the islands for many years, but he is often a guest of his father, George Fairchild of this city. Mrs. von Hamm was formerly Bernice Young, who went to school here for years, graduating from our High School.

These three cars were greatly admired by thousands of spectators, and cheers greeted them all along the line of parade. One reads of them:

"In some instances the number of blossoms used to carry out the designs adopted ran up to the tens of thousands, while more than ever this year could be noted the desire to harmonize color scheme and material used in the costumes of the occupants, in many cases with charming effect."

In the Alexander Young touring car this plan was carried out to the extent of providing Mr. Young, who drove, with a lavender dust coat and cap.

His car was undoubtedly a beauty, the color scheme being pale blue and pink, worked out with hydrangea blossoms and chiffons. On the front of the car, poised for flight with their gauzy wings beating the air as the big white steamer sped along, were three mammoth butterflies, glistening with tinsel. Altogether, in delicacy of design, and in the beautiful way in which it was worked out, this car deserved the first prize awarded it. With Mr. Young, dressed in harmonizing colors, both as to gloves and parasol, were Mrs. Young, Mrs. R. W. Anderson and Miss Bertha Young.

The Fairchild car was a dream in violet, 25,000 of the blossoms being used to form the masses of color, and the great balls enveloping the lamp stands. The only other color being afforded by the slight touches of green from the violet leaves edging the car sides.

The beautiful car was driven by Mrs. George Fairchild.

A gem among the smaller automobiles was the car of C. C. von Hamm, designed as a basket of violets, and carried out in as dainty a manner as possible. Mrs. von Hamm made a very beautiful picture, gowned in white, seated in the lovely violet basket.

In the carriage section a prize was won by Mrs. C. W. Macfarlane, Mrs. Macfarlane being formerly pretty Polly Dunn of San Francisco. We are planning all sorts of carnivals ourselves, now that the big fleet will be due here in a few weeks. But it would be impossible to plan anything in a floral way—it would be sure-to rain, as it did on the famous floral parade planned by Fabiola Hospital once upon a time.

RUTH GOODMAN IS MARRIED.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goodman of Napa have sent out cards announcing the marriage of their daughter Ruth to Mr. George Loomis North.

It was originally intended to have a large wedding, but the recent passing in New York of Mrs. Lucy Shaw, a relative of the family, caused the plans to be changed, and a quiet wedding was planned instead, at which were present only members of the family and a very few intimate friends.

The wedding took place last Saturday at the bride's home in Napa, the house being exceedingly picturesque with decorations of early spring blossoms. The ceremony was performed in a most artistic bower from which depended a bell made of lilacs of the valley and maiden hair fern.

The bride's gown was of white liberty satin trimmed in lace, and her bouquet was a shower of bride's roses.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Herbert Sawyer, who wore wedding gown of Irish lace, and who carried bridesmaids roses.

Among the guests were Captain and Mrs. Metcalf and their daughters, who are relatives of the groom, and among the bride's relatives, who went to Napa for the wedding were Miss Ruth Casey, Miss Lucile King, Joseph and Percy King, Mrs. Requa, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Requa, General and Mrs. Oscar Long, Amy Requa, Amy Long, Sally Long, Alice Requa and Master Lawrence Requa.

Mr. and Mrs. North sailed this week for the Mariposa for Tahiti, and when they return they will make their permanent home in Sacramento.

NEW FAD IN HAT DECORATIONS.

Many of our girls are adopting the Eastern fad of decorating one's hat brim or pinning one's veil with a jeweled clasp or pin of fancy design.

Besides the numerous fancy designs, which come in all the cheaper stones and are imitated in French jewelry, the jeweled pins are always an addition to the costume, and fastened in the brim of the hat, or at the back when the veil is crossed over, make a pretty finish and are much worn.

The semi-precious stones are much worn, such as the American amethysts, the Mexican opals and the Arizona and California stones. The woman of fashion considers her hat pin, with its jeweled setting, a necessary feature of her costume and many exquisite designs are shown in the real stones.

MISS EDITH POPE'S DAINTY LUNCHEON.

Miss Maude Edith Pope was the hostess on last Saturday at a very dainty luncheon, given at the Key Route Inn in honor of Mrs. James K. Moffitt and Miss Ethel Valentine. Miss Valentine, after an absence from Oakland of many months, returned home last week. She came by way of southern California, and was delightfully entertained by friends in Pasadena. The Key Route Inn makes an admirable environment for social affairs, for it is most artistically planned, and Miss Pope presided over one of the most delightful of the early spring luncheons. The table was a very charming study in spring blossoms, and Miss Pope's guests were Mrs.

James K. Moffitt, Miss Valentine, Mrs. Irving Lundborg, Mrs. John Francis Smith, Mrs. Edward Howard, Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Miss Belle Nicholson, Mrs. Herbert Moffitt and Miss Christie Taft.

BRIDGE CLUBS ARE INCREASING.

There seems to be literally no end to the bridge clubs which are springing up this spring. Each little coterie of friends has organized a club, and each neighborhood develops good bridge players.

Some of the best bridge players in the city are found in a club organized late this winter, the members of which met this week at the home on Vernon Heights of Mrs. Orestes Pierce.

Among the members of the club are Mrs. Pierce, Miss Amy McKee, Mrs. Henshaw, Mrs. William Pringle, the Misses Wilcox, Miss Berenice MacDonald, Mrs. Frank Brown, Miss Elizabeth McNear, Mrs. John McNear, Mrs. Bernard Ransome, Mrs. Wickham Havens.

500 IS A BACK GAME.

No one ever plays five hundred now, bridge is definitely the game of the hour, and those who did not learn to play in the beginning of the craze have reason to regret it now. For one is never welcome at bridge when she plays a poor game. And how can you ever learn to play a good game if you do not first play a poor one?

Some good matrons in the older card clubs make one smile these days as they go about armed with bridge books. They try to learn all the rules at once, and the consequence is that they go around with a bewildered expression most amusing. But they will evolve order out of the chaotic rules, and then when they have duly mastered bridge, they will never want to play "straight" again. Even the men, who have so little time to practice, are playing very good bridge games, and they are quite willing to wander over to a neighbor's home in the evening and have a quiet game of bridge.

So each day sees a uniting of some bridge club where an enjoyable afternoon or evening is sure, to reward the players for the time spent. Mrs. James G. Allen was the hostess for the Monday Card Club, a club made up of young matrons who were the first to play bridge on this side of the bay.

Mrs. Edward Dodge was also bridge hostess this week, entertaining a card club at her home in Alameda. The members were her guests for luncheon, and later in the afternoon there was an interesting card game.

A group of young girls have been playing bridge now for many months, and they have developed into exceedingly skillful players, playing perhaps the best bridge games in the city, among the girls who lead being Katherine Brown and Ruth and Rose Kales.

The Misses Kales entertained the members of the card club on Wednesday evening, and an equal number of young men were invited to be their guests.

Miss Winifred Braden was also the hostess this week at an informal gathering, the guests of which were members of a recently formed card club.

MEN'S CLUBS ARE IMMUNE AS YET.

Bridge has not yet invaded the clubs of our men to any great extent yet, but the wave is coming, just as it reached New York from London. The New York clubman is now a devotee of bridge, and by 4 o'clock in all the New York clubs, the card room is nearly full of players. There is a quiet, absorbed company that looks as if it were playing for its life, but one reads that "it is risking no more than anyone can well afford to pay." It may be said to the credit of card players that they play for heavy stakes as discredited at the best clubs, and that any form of gambling is of course tabooed.

The only trouble about the bridge game is that men become so fascinated in the game that they forget to go home. And they keep the women of the family waiting, who have only just succeeded in dragging themselves away from their card clubs to assume the virtue of promptness, even if it have it not.

FAIRLEY-WEELMAN WEDDING.

A wedding of more than the ordinary degree of interest will take place next week—the wedding of Mr. James Fairley and Miss Ray Wellman. The ceremony will take place at 8 o'clock on the evening of the eighteenth, at the home of the bride in Fruitvale. Mr. Fairley is a cousin of the Sanborns, and while on a visit to them he met Miss Wellman, with the result that their engagement was announced in the winter.

The Wellmans have lived many years in Fruitvale, and have been prominent in an interesting coterie of families made up of the Hushes, the Sanborns, the Marvados, the Clays, the Albrights, the Springs, and Mrs. Wetherbee. The Wellmans have lived for many years in their Fruitvale home, which is one of the most picturesque in the city.

One of the most popular daughters of the household was formerly Miss Alice Wellman, now Mrs. Beardsley of Melbourne, Australia. Miss Wellman will have as her maid of honor her sister, Miss Emma Wellman, and her attendants will be Grace and Laura Sanborn, Elsie Marwedel and Emma Grimwood. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. J. K. McLean, who is a lifelong friend of the family.

Mr. Fairley has built a most attractive residence at Piedmont in which a very dainty home will be established in the near future.

WEARING OF ARTIFICIAL FLOWERS.

A fad that is sure to find favor here is that of wearing artificial flowers with all styles of street and house gowns. It has been one of the Paris fads of the winter, and certain girls of the smart set on both sides of the bay have been wearing with a tailor gown this winter either an American beauty rose or an orchid.

A large single rose or an exquisite gardenia may give just the necessary touch to the costume, while there is no evening gown the beauty of which would not be enhanced by one or two delicate pink orchids.

These perfectly made imitation orchids and gardenias, worn not with any intention to deceive, but as a real ornament to the frock, will give a charming touch to any evening gown or house dress. So clever are they of workmanship that often a natural orchid is worn amid a cluster of the hand made flowers, and it is impossible to distinguish them apart.

WATTS COME BACK TO STAY.

It gives much pleasure to their many friends to know that Mr. and Mrs. William Watt, whose home has been for some months in Napa, have returned to Oakland to live. Robert Watt is the son of the late Robert Watt and Mrs. William Watt was formerly Olive Middleton.

Mrs. Watt has sent out cards far a

The baby beauty contest started by THE TRIBUNE is arousing remarkable interest. From all sections photos are coming in, and with them have come requests to continue the contest longer than the time originally. So THE TRIBUNE has decided to let the competition run until May 2, when all the photos will be carefully sorted by the judges and the winners selected.

As all the photos received to date are of children under 4 years of age, it has been decided to fix that as the age limit. Today are presented three family groups, as well as the first twins to appear in the contest. The twins are the children of Mr. and Mrs. R. Nunenmacher, 437 Howe street, this city. Milton has light hair and Mildred dark. They are 2 years and 9 months old.

Leonard Wright is fourteen months old, and his brother, Edward, 3 years and 7 months. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wright, 1917 Tenth street, Oakland.

Julius Winslow is 3 years and 3 months old, while Roy Winslow, his brother, is twenty-one months old. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Winslow, 5720 Marshall street, Oakland.

Farewell Kiss

Changes Wife's Mind

A parting kiss given today by John Wenning, of West Berkeley, to his wife, who was leaving him because she thought she had discovered the real mate of her soul, resulted in their reconciliation.

They had divided the furniture. Wenning had given his wife $400 and they were leaving the house, when he asked for the farewell kiss.

He gave it with such fervor that Mrs. Wenning blushed, stammered and finally declared: "I love you best after all. Shall we go back home?" They did. She sent her share of the furniture back.

The Ballad of the Lover

(BY THEODOSIA GARRISON.)

Now who are you at heaven's gate
Who make no word nor prayer,
But boldly stand with lifted hand
As you would enter there?
What is the worth that lends you strength
The unsheathed word to dare?

Now by what right of service done,
Ere yet the life sands ran,
Speak then the deed that we may read
Or yet we bless or ban.
"I was a lover true," quoth he,
"When I was living man."

Nay, but your hands are empty hands
Wherein no hands were pressed,
No triumph lies within your eyes
Nor burns upon your breast;
No stain of granted kisses shows
About your mouth's unrest.

Now, an you lie not, show the sign
That you were lover true.
No word spake he, but silently
His clinging mantle drew
And bared the wound drenched with his heart
Was broken through and through.

Women Plan to Better Environment of Workers

NEW YORK, March 14.—Plans for active work were outlined yesterday by committees of the newly organized New York women's branch of the National Civic Federation at meetings attended by women prominent in the social world who have enrolled themselves among the active workers. Factory conditions are to be investigated by special committees appointed yesterday. Ten days will be spent by the society women in visiting industrial settlements as well as places of Government employment, such as Governor's Island and the Custom House, to find out what has been done and what is needed for bettering the workers' environment.

GETTING JEALOUS.

Flykns—I hear Tom and his wife have had trouble about her doctor.

Strykyns—Yes. You see, while he agrees that she needs medical attention, he objects to the kind of attention her doctor gives her.

URGENT CASE.

Dr. Rush (to bicyclist policeman)—You must arrest me for speeding; I'm in a hurry to see a sick man.

Bicyclist Policeman—Come back with me and see the sick man your auto just ran over.

MILLIONAIRE'S WANTS DIVORCE FIFTH WIFE HIS MONEY

Mrs. Fanny Darden, a bride of a year, has brought suit in equity against her husband, James G. Darden, a millionaire of Albuquerque, N. M., to recover $75,000, which she claims to have loaned him during the brief time they lived together, and to establish her claim to Ingleside, Darden's $30,000 country home at Keswick, where he has moved in exclusive society as a supposed widower.

Mrs. Darden was Mrs. Fannie Van Riper, a New York widow, when she met Darden and married him, October 27, 1906.

He has begun suit in Albuquerque for a divorce, alleging she refused to live with him.

The plaintiff is said to be Darden's third or fourth wife. He won notoriety when he married Miss Marie Elise Ross, daughter of J. M. Ross, a rich Brooklyn man. Darden met her on a train in California in 1902. In Chicago she eluded her father long enough to marry him. In less than a year she got a divorce.

Darden was given the nomination for Congress from the Ninth Chicago district that same year in return, it is said, for a large campaign contribution. When the copy of an alleged indictment for forgery in Portland, Oregon, was published, he resigned.

IN SOCIETY

the last week before Lent were those of Mrs. Maurice Casey, Mrs. J. Leroy Nickel, Miss Amy Gunn and Mrs. Joseph Chansellor. Mrs. Nickel was hostess for the third or fourth time. This was Mrs. Casey's first party and Mrs. Chansellor's second. Miss Amy Gunn entertained two days in succession, the Monday and Tuesday before Lent began. Mrs. Chansellor's prizes were particularly beautiful, being eight exquisitely embroidered Mandarin coats in the most delicate shades, as souvenirs for her eight tables of guests.

MONTELL TAYLORS AGAIN ESTABLISHED.

The Montell Taylors are again established in their artistic home on Webster street and are making their friends welcome in their well known hospitable fashion. Mrs. Taylor is a charming hostess, and one of the best loved of the younger matrons.

She gave a very delightful dinner this week in honor of her sister, Clarisse Lohse, and a dozen guests were entertained.

The dinner was followed by an interesting game of bridge, the guests greatly enjoying the happy evening planned by their hostess.

HAVE SENT OUT CARDS.

Mrs. John Randolph Farrell and Miss Farrell have sent out cards for Tuesday. The Farrells, who have lived for a long time in South Africa, where Mr. Farrell was a successful mining engineer, have taken a house at 3850 Clay street, and will henceforth make San Francisco their home. The Farrells lived at one time in San Rafael and Mr. Farrell is a University of California man.

Charter Day, March 23, is to be appropriately celebrated at the University of California with an address by Dr. Faunce, president of Brown University, and a procession of graduates and faculty to the Greek Theater or the Harmon gymnasium, according to the weather. There will be the usual number of luncheons preceding the affair and everyone hopes for fine weather.

The Collegiate Alumnae will hold their monthly luncheon on March 21st at Stanford University with luncheon at the large women's dormitory and an entertainment afterward by the senior society. Last month the Collegiate Alumnae were the guests of Mrs. Mills at Mills College and it was on that occasion that Mrs. Mills announced her intention of abandoning the secondary school work and making her institution a woman's college exclusively.

AN EXODUS FROM TOWN.

These beautiful March days are causing a perfect exodus from town and all the country houses are being opened.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sharon, whose handsome house at Menlo is almost completely, went down for the week-end to Palo Alto to see how the house was getting on.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grace and their small son are in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hays Hammond and their children have gone to Santa Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Whitney have taken a house in San Mateo for the summer and Mr. and Mrs. Shreve have rented a house there also for the summer, their own place being rented to the Horace Pillsbury.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Aylott Cotton Jr. have opened their houses on the Borel estate in San Mateo, and the Folgers have opened their house at Woodside.

THE MEDDLER.

AT LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Albert S. Thesberg was hostess yesterday at an informal luncheon for Mrs. Helen N. Dickson of Seattle, a writer of verse and short stories, who is visiting here.

The table decorations consisted of a large centerpiece of asparagus ferns and myrtle blossoms. Covers were laid for Mrs. J. B. Bartlett, Mrs. Chester C. Bortor, Mrs. Herman Peterson, Mrs. W. Elliott Judge, Mrs. T. C. Jenkins, Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. Theberge. During the afternoon about twenty-five guests called to meet Mrs. Dickson, and an informal reception and musicale were

WOMEN DRESS LIKE PRIESTS; MAN IMITATES FAT ACTRESS

NEW YORK, March 14.—A leap-year party given by Mrs. P. Geddes Grant was one of the original entertainments of the season. The women came dressed as men, and the men as women.

The women "escorted" the men with all the airs accredited to the stronger sex, and at midnight many "popped the question" while it was up to the men to answer "Yes." Mrs. Grant, in the garb of a bishop, with the flowing robes of another age, performed wedding ceremonies for several selected pairs, greatly to the edification of the other guests.

Many of the guests did stunts. There were many Chinese mandarins, monks and priests, their long robes particularly suiting the women. There were also Pierrettes, Pierrots, clowns, Oriental dancing girls, and several came as characters from various operas. One man represented a certain fair but fat actress, and his wife came as her tall admirer.

Another woman was Cupid.

ELOPE, HAVE CHURCH MARRIAGE; DON'T TELL PAPA OR MAMA

DANVILLE, Conn., March 14.—An elopement in which the marriage was celebrated with all the usual display and ceremony took place in Trinity Episcopal Church in Lime Rock street. A large number of the young friends of both the bride and bridegroom were in attendance, but the parents of the runaway bride were in ignorance of what was happening. They had sternly forbidden the marriage and were not informed of it until the happy couple returned to this city.

The bride was Miss Elizabeth R. Williamson of Bethel. Her father, J. H. Williamson, is a wealthy contractor in that village. The bridegroom, Harry R. Brownlow, well known in Danbury, was a student in Yale University last year. The Rev. George W. Griffith, formerly rector of the church which the bride attended in Bethel, performed the ceremony.

Several days ago Miss Williamson went to New Haven to visit a friend, and it was while there that arrangements were made for the marriage. In the party which boarded the train for Lime Rock on Sunday, were three of the bride's girl friends from Bethel.

who attended her at the church ceremony. The bride, Miss Williamson, is a well known and popular young people and the mystery is how they were able to carry out the affair without the knowledge of the bride's family.

Wig-Blocks Are Now All the Rage; for Other Women

Nearly all women who wear wigs provide themselves with a block on which they may be dressed as occasion demands. In fact, wigs require care as well as other articles of luxury. They should be repeatedly brushed, since their tendency is to become dull looking, and a high, healthy-looking gloss is one of the features of a good wig. To accentuate this gloss many women use a trifle of choice scented brilliants. The cost of fine wigs is rather high. English, Russian and French women pay as much as $100 apiece for them, and triple that amount when the color desired is the rare "ashes of blonde." They can, however, be found for much less, and attractive enough to compare with those of higher price. The hair as well as the quarter wigs are, naturally, not nearly so costly as those which cover the whole head.

NOT FOR HIM.

Cyrus (entering a sixteenth-floor office of the Syndicate Building, perspiring and panting)—By gum, them stairs must be several miles long!

Occupant of Office—Why didn't you come up in one of those elevators there?

Cyrus—Not much! I feel so one of 'em full o' people fall down that hole there!—From the March Bohemian.

Wed Friday, the 13th. Under an Open Umbrella

Salt Upset, Mirrors Are Broken at Wedding.

CHICAGO, March 14.—Friday, the 13th, had no terrors for Maizie Catherine Stuart and Louis Allan Conrad as a bridal day. They made up their minds in the afternoon to have the knot tied, and in the evening they were husband and wife. The relatives of both objected strenuously and so the pair eloped.

Superstition was defied at every hand in the romance. The first objection was the day of the wedding, but it was overruled immediately by the bride. Then an attempt was made to find Judge McEwen to perform the ceremony. After a two hours' search he was found at a dinner at the Thirteen Club in a downtown restaurant.

On entering the room where the dinner was in progress, the couple had to walk beneath a ladder. Salt was spilled over the floor and mirrors were shattered by being served when the couple appeared. The officials of the club induced them to have the ceremony performed in the room.

Judge McEwen, standing at one end of the room, solemnized the marriage beneath an open umbrella, and as soon as the ceremony was performed dishes were dropped on the floor, cowbells rattled and a piece of sheet iron was shaken as thunder.

Conrad is a broker. His parents live at Winchester, Va.

GIRL OF FOURTEEN LEAVES SCHOOLMATES TO BECOME A BRIDE

NEW YORK, March 14.—The reason fourteen-year-old Gertrude Stillings hasn't been doing her sums in Public School No. 119 for the past two weeks is because she has given up school to become a housewife.

She who was Gertrude Stillings—it is now Mrs. Frederick Pitman, if you don't mind—has been heretofore the smallest in the family of Mr. and Mrs. John Stillings, at No. 212 West One Hundred and Forty-third street. If she had kept out of matrimony she would have graduated with the S A class this coming June and would have entered High School next September, when her mother had intended to put her in long dresses.

But right next door to the Stillings lives Frederick Pitman. He's of mature age—being 14, going 20 come fall—and Gertrude fell in love with him away long last summer. Both families knew about the short-skirt idyll. In fact, Gertrude and Frederick had been told that they might unite without any parental opposition if they'd wait a single year.

The truism, however, is well established that you can't have it all. At 14 Gertrude was too young to be a bride, and so Miss Gertrude Stillings made it up with Mr. Frederick Pitman that they would get married (then and there).

They have been forgiven. Next week Mr. Pitman, husband, will get a raise of salary from the electrical shop he works for in Brooklyn. Next week Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pitman will begin keeping house for themselves.

Harbach gave two readings—"Street Car Scene" and "A Bachelor," which were much enjoyed.

Two of Oakland's composers, Caro Roma and John Metcalf, were chosen to represent California in song, by Mrs. W. Carter.

The song "Violets" (Roma) and "At Nightfall" (Metcalf), responding to hearty cheers with "I Once Had a Sweet Little Doll, Dearest" (Nevin), and "A Rose in Heaven" (Trotter). Reminiscences and anecdotes of California were told over the tea cups and a very interesting afternoon closed.
